LAWS.

1. The Society shall be limited to 300 members, out of whom shall be elected a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, Editor, and Secretary, and 15 other members (to be elected annually) of the Society, who shall form the Council, of whom four shall be a quorum.

2. New members may be enrolled by the Secretary, but their election shall not be complete until it shall have been confirmed by the Council.

3. The government of the Society shall be vested in the Council.

4. Vice-Presidents, when once elected, shall hold the office so long as they continue members of the Society. The President shall be chosen for one year, but may be re-elected.

5. There shall be an Editorial Committee, consisting of the Editor and five members, who shall superintend the publications of the Society, and shall report their proceedings annually to the Council.

6. All members shall pay one guinea, in advance, on 1st of March in each year to the Secretary, and members wishing to withdraw from the Society must give three months notice to the Secretary of such intention, and must pay up at the same time all arrears of subscriptions.

7. All members whose subscriptions are not in arrear shall be entitled to receive all publications of the Society, for the period covered by their subscriptions, except any special publications issued under its auspices.

8. All subscriptions received shall at once be paid by the Secretary into Lloyd's Bank Limited, to the credit of the Treasurer, and all cheques shall be drawn by the Treasurer for the payment of bills against the Society, and such bills shall be countersigned by the Secretary or Chairman of the Council, before they are paid by the Treasurer.

9. The Council shall meet at least once a year to transact any business that may be brought before it, and the Chairman of the Council, shall have power to call a special meeting, of which a fortnight's notice shall be given to each member of the Council.

10. A general annual meeting shall be held yearly, when the reports of the Council and officers of the Society shall be submitted, officers elected, any alteration of the laws approved, the accounts audited, and any other business discussed and approved.

11. Any member wishing to make an alteration in the laws must give one month's notice to the Secretary before the Annual Meeting, of his intention to move such a resolution, accompanied by a copy of such proposed resolution.

12. A special meeting of the Council shall be convened by the Chairman on the requisition of three members thereof, such meeting to be held within one calendar month from the date of the receipt of the requisition; at least 14 days notice to be given, the special business to be stated on the circular convening the meeting and also in the requisition.

m. 3. Retinue Roll of Names.

1404. F. 6 Henry IV. E.

Account of Rustin de Villa Nova, Knt., of his receipts and of the wages of men-at-arms and bowmen staying with him for the safe keeping of the King's town and castle of Carmarthen, and of Newcastle Emlyn in Wales, according to the force and effect of a certain indenture thereof made between the said King and the aforesaid Rustin, 1 May, 1404, delivered upon this account, in which among other things is contained that the aforesaid Rustin was retained by the King as custos of the castle and town of Carmarthen and of Newcastle Emlyn in Wales, from the day of the making of the indenture, to wit, from 1 May, 1404, to the end of the month of June next following, to wit, 30 June, and that the said Rustin should have in his company for the custody aforesaid 101 men-at-arms, well equipped and fittingly arrayed as their status demanded, and 290 bowmen equipped and arrayed as pertained to their status, to wit, in the said castle and town of Carmarthen 91 men-at-arms and 240 bowmen, and in the said New Castle of Emlyn 10 men-at-arms and 24 bowmen, and the aforesaid Rustin shall receive of our lord the King 12d. per day for the wages of each man-at-arms, and 6d. per day for each bowman, by the King's Writ of Privy Seal dated 21 May, 1406, directed to the Treasurer, Barons, and Chamberlain, and enrolled among the writs directed to the Barons for Trinity Term, 1412, according to which writ the King commanded the aforesaid Treasurer and Barons, upon seeing the said indenture, by which the aforesaid Rustin stayed in the King's service for a certain time with divers men-at-arms and bowmen, as is specified in the said indenture, to duly account with the said Rustin for his stay there and for the said men-at-arms and bowmen which the aforesaid Rustin had continually in his company there, as well as for the monies received by the said Rustin for this purpose, making due allowance to the said Rustin for the time he shall have spent on the safe custody of the towns and castles aforesaid in this behalf of such daily wages as is contained in the aforesaid indenture. And since it appeared to the aforesaid Treasurer and Barons that the aforesaid account was rightly due from the King to the said Rustin, the aforesaid Treasurer and Chamberlain have caused him to have payment and sufficient assignment, to wit, for these following receipts and expenses:—

He (Rustin de Villa Nova) renders account of £107 13s. 6d. received by him of John Endely, clerk, John Hoddeley, Thomas Knolles, and Richard Merlawe, treasurers of wars, 12 May, 1404, to wit, £100, by the hands of the reeve, 61s. 2d. by the hands of William Bonyer of Lymesham, and £4 13s. 4d. by the hands of John Sely of Llanstephan, for the wages of men-at-arms and bowmen staying in the aforesaid Rustin's company for the safe keeping of the town and castle of Carmarthen, and Newcastle Emlyn in Wales, as is contained in a certain indenture made thereof between the aforesaid treasurers of wars and the said Rustin, and also in a certain schedule[1] of particulars delivered into the Treasury. Sum of Receipts, £108 14s. 6d.

He accounts for the wages of 81 men-at-arms, each one at 12d., and 240 bowmen, each one at 6d. per day (whose names appear on a certain Retinue Roll of the said Rustin delivered upon this account), staying with him continuously upon the safe custody of the town and castle of Carmarthen in Wales from 1 May, 1404, on which day the aforesaid Rustin with the said men-at-arms and bowmen first undertook the custody of the said King's town and castle, to 30 June next following for 60 days, the last day being reckoned and not the first. £613, according to the King's unit, and the aforesaid indenture, noted above in this account, and as is contained in the aforesaid schedule of particulars delivered into the Treasury.

And for the wages of 10 men-at-arms, each one at 12d., and 24 bowmen, each one at 6d. per day, whose names appear on the above-mentioned Retinue Roll of the said Rustin, on which day likewise the said Rustin with the aforesaid men-at-arms and bowmen undertook the keeping of the said Newcastle Emlyn up to the said 30 June next following, to wit, for 60 days, the last day being reckoned and not the first. £66, according to the unit and indenture aforesaid, and as is contained there.

Total of wages, £669. And he has a superplus of £561 5s. 6d., for which he is to have payment and satisfaction elsewhere, according to the pretext of the King's unit, notified above in this account, and which, bearing date 30 June, 1406, is delivered to the Treasurer and Chamberlain at the Receipt of the Exchequer.

1529. LETTERS AND PAPERS, 21 Henry VIII. (Vol. 4, No. 5686).

Lady Catharine Ryx to Wolsey, dated Carmarthen, 17 June:—His servant, Master Ryx Griffith, is in Carmarthen Castle, in the keeping of Lord Ferrers, on a false surmise of desiring one Thomas ap Owen, servant of the King, then in ward in the same castle, to take out of the constable's hands one Jankyn, servant to the said Ryx, upon which the said Lord Ferrers drew his dagger, and Ryx in his defence did the same. There was no harm done except that Ryx was hurt in his arm. On this he was commanded by Ferrers on a penalty of £1000 to remain in the castle, at which the county is greatly discontented. . . . . Ryx would have written, but is kept from pen and ink.

1532. LETTERS AND PAPERS, Henry VIII., Vol. 5, No. 1120.

Walter Devereux (Lord Ferrers) to Cromwell, 24 June, Carmarthen. On the 19th of June one Ieuan ap Ricard was coining money in the chamber of a monk named Dan Rychard at the monastery of Istratflere. Both Ieuan and the monk are now safe in Carmarthen Castle till the King's pleasure and Cromwell's be known.

1543. LETTERS AND PAPERS, Henry VIII., Vol. 18, p. 1, No. 623.

(Patent Roll, 35 Henry VIII., p. 5, m. 25.)

Hampton Court, 17 May. Appointment of William Herbert to be keeper of Aberystwyth Castle in South Wales, with 12 archers under him, and keeper of Carmarthen Castle, South Wales, and of all prisoners in the same; with 12d. a day as captain, and 4d. a day for each archer, and £20 a year as keeper of Carmarthen Castle; as amply as Sir William Thomas enjoyed these offices.

1578. EXCHEQUER K.R. ACCOUNT, 489, No. 20.

Bond in which Walter, Earl of Essex, is bound in the sum of £33 6s. 8d. to Elizabeth to make certain payments as specified in the obligation.

The condition of this obligation is such that whereas the Queen, by her letters patent, 17 May, 1578, hath granted to Walter, Earl of Essex, the office of constable of the castle of Carmarthen for the term of his life with the yearly fee of £20, in which patent is mentioned that he shall repair and maintain the said castle during his said life. Whereas also in consideration that the same castle was at the time of her Majesty's grant in such ruin and decay, as without the expense of £232 6s. 8d. by estimation it could not be put in sufficient and perfect estate of reparation to have any continuance as by a particular estimate or plot signed with the hand of Robert Davey, Esq., Surveyor of South Wales, remaining with the auditor there may appear, it was thought good by the right Honourable William Lord Burghley, Lord High Treasurer of England, and Sir Walter Myldeway, Knt., Chancellor and Under Treasurer of Her Highnesses Court of Exchequer, &c., to allow unto the said Earl £150 towards the repair of the premises. If therefore the said Walter, Earl of Essex, and his assigns do and shall within 2 years next ensuing the date of this obligation put the same castle of Carmarthen and the building thereof, and every part and parcel of the same in full, perfect, and sufficient state of repair in all points according to the true meaning of the particular estimate remaining with the auditor, as is above mentioned, whereof a true copy is annexed to this obligation, and do also from thenceforth from time to time during his natural life keep and maintain the same sufficiently repaired. And further do and shall appoint and cause from time to time during his lifetime some one man or more of countenance continually to inhabit the same. And also yf the same person or persons so inhabiting the same do and shall give place to Her Majesty's justice of assize, auditor, and receyvour in their several circuits during the time of their abode in those parts, and permit and suffer them quietly to have the use of competent and necessary houses, lodgings, and room within the said castle during the time of their abode there for the Queen's Majesty's service, that then this present obligation be void and of none effect, or else to stand and abide in full power, strength, and virtue.

['Copy of Estimate annexed.']

An estimate of the charge of reparations needfull to be done upon the castle of Carmarthen.

Memorandum this first estimate is proportioned having slate of great thickness to endure the force of the wind, the lack of which slate in times past hath put the Queen to much more charges than otherwise should have been, and brought the present ruin.

The Kitchen.

Laughdony slate, 16,000 (@ 6/8 per 1000), and 20/- carriage	6	6	8
Lathes, 4000, @ 5d. a bundle, 20 bundles to a 1000	1	13	4
Nails, 16,000, @ 2/- per 1000	1	12	0
Lime and sand	1	6	8
3 dozen crestes	0	10	0
The workmanship	2	10	0

Sum, £13 18s. 8d.

There is a pynnyon to be made up betwixt the hall and the kitchen, the lack whereof hath caused the hall roof to remove a foot from the other end, having a pynnyon, the charge whereof will be—£6.

The Hall.

Slate, 20,000, as above, and 30/- carriage ..	9	10	0
Nails, 24,000	2	10	0
Lime and sand	2	0	0
Workmanship	5	0	0
5 dozen crests	0	16	8

Sum, £22 4s. 8d.

The chamber next the hall for the covering like to the kitchen	13	18	8
In this is a loft, the 2 principal beams whereof must be new, and the floor new made and sealed	6	13	4

Sum, £20 12s.

The Auditors' Chamber.

There must be a new frame for the roof, the workmanship whereof (the timber to be had in the Queen's forest), and the victualls of the tenants bound to bring it home	3	0	0

Slate	Nil, but of old.
Laths, 2000	0	16	8
Lime and sand	1	0	0
Nails, 6000	0	12	0
2 dozen crestes	0	6	8
Workmanship	1	10	0

Sum, £7 5s. 4d.

The long Roofe.

The frame for the most part must be new, for which there is timber to be had out of the Queen's woods, the carriage and workmanship of which will be by estimation	33	6	8
The covering hereof will cost as much as the kitchen, the hall, and the chamber next it, viz.	50	2	0
The wall on the west side in part to be made new, the charge	5	0	0

Sum, £88 8s. 8d.

The Stable.

Slate of old store for this and other [rounes] ..
Laths, 4000	1	13	4
Nails, 16,000	1	12	0
Lime and sand	1	6	8
Workmanship	2	10	0
A new pynnyon at one end	5	0	0

Sum, £12 2s.

The Gatehouse and Exchequer and other Rooms.

Slate, of old store.
Laths, nails, lime, sand, and workmanship equal with the stable, £7 2s.
There is a great piece of a wall fallen, the charge of setting up a slender wall in place of it ..	13	6	8
Lead, and mending the gutters, glass, plastering, and other small works	10	0	0

Sum, £23 6s. 8d.

A void room having walls but not covered. The timber that shall be taken from the long house will serve, and there will be slate enough.
Lath nails, lime and sand and tile, the moiety of the charge of the stable	3	11	0
Workmanship of mason and carpenter	1	13	4
Sum, £5 4s. 4d.
For gates, doors, and ironworks, by est.	13	15	8
There must be sundry floors, some boarded and some paved, by estimation	13	6	8
Sum total, £233 6s. 8d.

Memorandum, I gather by this plot that the charge of the said castle to put in full and perfect estate of repair, considering the decay of the several walls, roofs, and lack of pinions, would not have been borne at my Lord of Essex's entry into the custody of it with less than £200.

Also that order may be taken that some may continually inhabit the castle.

Also that the auditor and receiver may have place when they come to the country, and the justice in the circuit time.

ROBERT DAVY,
Surveyor.

APPENDIX.

1645. Civil War in Wales and the Marches. (J. Roland Phillips) Vol. II., p. 273.

Oct. 12. Letter from Major-General Rowland Laugharne to Wm. Lenthall, Speaker of the House of Commons. 'Since the taking of Picton Castle, the first action, worthy of your knowledge, God vouchsafed I should effect, was the taking of Carmarthen Town and Castle. It was performed this day. At nine o'clock in the morning 1,500 club-men of the county marched out at one gate and I entered at the other.'

1652. STATE PAPERS (Printed Calendar of the papers of the Committee for Compounding.)

Dec. 21. Letter from the Committee to Lord-General Cromwell. 'Dawkins, governor of Carmarthen Castle and Tenby, a material witness in the case [of Mrs. Margaret Lloyd, widow, in respect of lands in Llandilo-talybont, co. Glamorgan,] being lately in town, we summoned him to be examined, but he went back to Wales, and without his testimony we cannot determine it.'

1661. STATE PAPERS (Domestic Series), 12 Car. II., Vol. 29., No. 93.

Jan. Petition of Leicester, Viscount Hereford and Walter Devereux, to the King, for the office of steward and keeper of the courts of the manors of Cayo, Talley, &c., co. Carmarthen, and of Mavon, otherwise Mavonion, co. Cardigan, with the constableship of Carmarthen Castle, granted by Queen Elizabeth and King James to the earls of Essex, but now void.

1661. TREASURY BOOKS. (Printed Calendar, Vol. I., p. 101.)

Dec. 13. Letter from Sir P. Warwick to the Attorney General. Having enquired whether many stewardships be yet useful, it is certified that all are so, except the constableship of Carmarthen.

To this letter is appended the following certificate of Auditor Wm. Hill; dated 6 Dec., 1660: 'The castle of Carmarthen being now quite demolished, I conceive the constableship thereof to be unnecessary.'

Pembrokeshire Lay Subsidies.

By HENRY OWEN, D.C.L. (Oxon.), F.S.A.

The lists first hereunder printed are in reality church briefs, that is to say, a collection for some charitable purpose by Letters Patent from the Crown. The contribution from each parish is given, the parishes are divided by rural deaneries, as then existing, and the names of the churchwardens (so far as they can be deciphered) are printed.

Church briefs were very common in the 17th century; they may still be issued, but this has not been done since 1854. The process has been found to be inconvenient and costly. These lists date from the reign of Henry VIII.

The last list is a fragment and relates to the parish of Fishguard only, and also is of the reign of Henry VIII. It is to be distinguished from the others in being a rate for the state and not an offering in defence against the Turks; it sets forth the amount of the real or personal property of each contributor and the amount at which he was assessed; the contribution was by no means voluntary. The subsidy of the clergy was granted in Convocation and confirmed by Parliament.

Wreckage Rights of Laugharne Lordship.

Some interesting information in regard to the wreckage rights of Laugharne lordship, and as to the Crow family of Westmead, near Laugharne, is contained in the following summary of the evidence to be given by witnesses in the case of Maud v. Shewen in the year 1755. This document is among the records at Llwynwormwood :—

Evan John of Pendine parish, aged 67, says that he was born and bred in Laugharne parish, and came to be servant at Westmead[1] about 55 years ago. He saw wreck frequently brought from the sands joining Sir Thomas Powell's estate[2]; that the stewards of the Westmead estate frequently searched for wrecks on every part of the lordship[3], which he apprehends extends from St. Clears Bridge to New Inn;[4] that when a wreck happened the carts of Westmead were sent for it, and there was a vessel 55 years ago stranded, which was loaded with salt, lemons, and oranges, which the sea threw ashore ye other side of Whyttyer Pill, ye supposed division between the Westmead and Broadway[2] estates; that the vessel being beat to pieces and being put up was carried away by Mr. Sackville Crow, he residing at Westmead, and Sir Sackville [Crow] then living at Carmarthen, and the right of doing so was esteemed to be in the Westmead family, which he [deponent] had often heard his grandfather, who was 96 years of age, declare.

[2] Broadway, near Laugharne.

[3] Although the document does not mention the name of this lordship, it is no doubt the lordship of Laugharne, which on 26 May, 1628, Sir Sackville Crow, then Treasurer of the King's Navy, acquired for the residue of a term of 99 years (created on 12 July, 1626) from trustees appointed by the King, and subsequently appears to have purchased the reversion of the King in the lordship. At all events the lordship was owned by Sir Sackville's grand-daughter, Jane Crow, who married Francis Cornwallis of Abermarlais, Carms., as she by her will, dated 31 Jan., 1738–9, devised it to her sister [in law], Elizabeth Cornwallis, who married Sir Robert Maude of Dundrum, in Ireland.

[4] The New Inn in question is on the sea shore near, and to the east of, Amroth Castle.

John Davies of Laugharne, shopkeeper, aged 64, and a native of Marros, says that he came to be butler at Westmead about 40 years ago to Mrs. Jane Crow, afterwards Mrs. Cornwallis. Sir John Crow died about 37 years ago, and he was buried at Laugharne, and on his death Mrs. Cornwallis[1] succeeded to the whole estate. Witness corroborates the extent of the lordship as above, and says that he was present at the bringing of a pipe of brandy from the east end of Sir Thomas Powell's burrowes in a cart of Westmead. It was usual to give notice of wreckage to the Westmead family, who usually rewarded the messenger, and sent for it: never till 10 or 12 years [had deponent] heard any claim set up to wrecks. That Sir Thomas Powell, who preceded Mrs. Gwynne, and whose daughter Mr. Gwynne married, was very tenacious of his property, but he never claimed a right to wrecks. Deponent was about 20 years ago made a water bailiff by Sir Robert Maude, and under that right he had ever since been paid for . . . . . anchorage and killage[2] of such ships or lighters as came into Laugharne river, unless they were freed out of some other port. Sir Sackville died in 1706, Sir John Crow in 1715, and Mrs. Cornwallis in 1730.

Old Book Plates of West Wales.

By H. M. VAUGHAN, F.S.A.

The invention of the Book Plate, or Book Label, or Ex Libris, as it is variously termed, dates from the 16th century, but in Britain the custom of owning a book-plate did not become popular until the closing years of the 17th century. In or about the year 1698, however, a sudden fashion set in amongst owners of books for having these labels, and from that date onward to the present day the Book Plate has been in general if not in universal use amongst persons who possess libraries. Throughout the 18th century the many book-plates issued ran through a fairly regular course of artistic treatment, which may be roughly classified under the following five heads :—

(1) Early Jacobean (1698–1715), which were practically all Armorial in character, and were distinguished by heavy mantling or acanthus foliage above and around the shield.

(2) Jacobean (1715–1735), of a more elegant and varied type of ornamentation than the previous.

(3) Chippendale (1735–1760), into which a superfluity of decoration was introduced. Most of the Chippendale plates also display curved shields and are seldom symmetrical in form.

(4) Festoon (1760–1790), wherein appear regular wreaths or swags, chains of corn husks, spiders' webs, ribbands, nails, &c. The shield is now spade-shaped, and symmetry is restored to the design.

(5) Plain (1790–1830), in which almost all ornamentation is discarded, though the shield usually retains its spade-shaped form.

In addition to these five periods of design above mentioned, there also occur many bookplates that cannot be classed under these heads, such as Pictorial, Landscape, Allegorical, Library Interior, Book Pile, Military, and other fanciful designs, some of them of great beauty and engraved by artists of the first rank. Even the fifth and last period (1790–1830), which exhibits the decay of the artistic plate, is fairly rich in Landscape plates, some of these being wood-cuts designed by Bewick or his pupils. From these contemporary schemes of decoration it usually becomes easy to tell the approximate date of almost any book label. Plates that bear the name of the artist or engraver are rare; and rarer still are the dated book plates, and very few early British plates contain both engraver's name and the date: of this last combination there is not a single example amongst these West Wales plates. The great majority of existing book plates are Armorial in character, and incidentally they afford many interesting studies in heraldry, but there are numerous specimens in which a coat-of-arms is absent, notably in the simple labels, that often belonged to persons of literary attainments, who did not aspire to use Armorial bearings.

Old book plates in West Wales are fairly frequent, and I feel certain that the ensuing list of known plates between 1698 and 1830 of persons connected with the three counties of Cardigan, Carmarthen, and Pembroke by no means exhausts the catalogue of those that are extant. But the discovery of an old local book-plate is more often the result of a happy chance than of systematic searching. Some of the plates enumerated below are of extreme rarity (e.g., the large Chippendale plate of 'Thomas Pryse,' of which only a single specimen is known to me), and some are not included in the three important collections on which this list of mine is chiefly based. These are the collection of the late Wollaston Franks, now preserved in the British Museum; the catalogue of the collection of the late Julian Marshall, which was dispersed in 1906; and the collection of Mr. E. D. Jones of Pentower, Fishguard, which is composed entirely of Welsh plates. Whenever any example mentioned is not included in any one of these three large collections, the omission is noted in my list. One particular obstacle to the compilation of a satisfactory catalogue of West Wales book-plates is the persistent difficulty involved in the identification of their owners. Welsh owners of these old plates seem to have had a rooted objection in most cases to adding the name of their residence to their very brief description of themselves; indeed, the very name itself is sometimes omitted, so that nothing save the confusing armorial chargings and the scheme of ornament remains to assist the compiler. In my endeavours to classify and identify these plates, I have found the following works of especial value, in addition to the various references quoted in the list itself.

Dean Allen, Notes on the Sheriffs of Pembrokeshire: Tenby, 1900. James Buckley, Genealogies of the Carmarthenshire Sheriffs, 2 vols.: Carmarthen, 1910–3. J. Nicholas, Annals and Antiquities of the Counties and County Families of Wales, 2 vols.: London, 1872. W. R. Williams, History of the Great Sessions in Wales, 1542–1830: Brecknock, 1899. Burke's Peerage and Baronetage, V.D. Burke's Extinct Peerage and Extinct Baronetage, V.D. Burke's Landed Gentry, V.D.

The actual inscriptions upon the book-plates described below are given in capital letters, and in cases where no inscription appears the owner's name is printed in square brackets.

CARDIGANSHIRE BOOK PLATES.

SIR THOMAS BONSALL, FRONFRAITH, KNT. Label with a border. Sir T. Bonsall settled in North Cardiganshire in the latter part of the 18th century in connection with mining operations, 'to which he owed the whole accumulation of his wealth' (see Meyrick's History of Cardiganshire, p. ccxxxiv.). Assisted in the development of Aberystwyth as a watering-place, and bought the estate of Fronfraith from one Thomas Morgan in 1784. H. Sheriff, 1795. Not in Franks, Jones, or Marshall.

OWEN BRIGSTOCKE. Early Jacobean Armorial. Son of William Brigstocke of Llechdwny co. Carm. and brother to the William Brigstocke, who married Elizabeth, elder d. and co-h. of Reynald Jenkins of Blaenpant. 'This Owen Brigstocke was the collector of the valuable library at Blaen Pant, which was probably of use to the antiquary Dr. James Philips, who lived at this house ten or twelve years' (see Meyrick's History of Cardiganshire, p. 131). Several of the old books still preserved at Blaenpant possess this rare and interesting early book plate, whose owner was probably the 'Owen Brigstocke of the Middle Temple,' elected M.P. for Cardigan Borough in 1710.

R. DAVIES. Label, with an oval border. Robert Davies of Aberystwyth; born 1790, died 1841. Grandfather of J. H. Davies, Esq., of Cwrtmawr, H. Sheriff 1912, and Registrar of the University College of Wales, Aberystwyth.

THE REV. MR. EVAN EVANS. Label, with border and Greek motto. The plate of the celebrated Ieuan Brydydd Hir, poet and scholar, born in 1730. Educated at Ystradmeurig school under Edward Richard; he later entered Merton College, Oxford, and took Orders. Published many valuable works on Welsh literature, his abilities being highly esteemed by Thomas Gray, and other leading men of letters. Died at Cynhawdref, in his native parish of Lledrod, 1789.

THOMAS EVANS, M.D. Pictorial, circ. 1820, with a pretty view of the Teifi at Pont Henllan, and with a motto in French. Unidentified. Not in Franks, Jones, or Marshall.

THOMAS JOHNES, ESQR. Chippendale Armorial, impaling Knight, of Llanfair-Clydogau and of Croft Castle, co. Hereford. M.P. for Radnorshire in 1777. Married Elizabeth Knight, h. of Croft Castle. Was father of Col. Thomas Johnes of Hafod, the eminent author and agriculturist. Died in 1780.

DAVID LLOYD. Chippendale Armorial, the shield borne on a heavy mantle. The book plate of David Lloyd of Allt-y-rodin, who was H. Sheriff in 1742, and married Justina Price of Blaendyffryn. The same plate was also used by the son of the above, David Lloyd (H. Sheriff, 1781), who married Elizabeth Evans of Highmead. This and the six following book plates all bear the arms of Cadifor ap Dyfnwal—Sable between three scaling ladders argent a spear head imbrued; on a chief gules, a castle triple-towered argent—and therefore belong to various members of the family of Lloyd of Castell Hywel.

GRIFFITH LLOYD. Chippendale Armorial, a large and ornate specimen. Unidentified, but probably that of a member of the Pant-y-paldu branch of this family.

SIR HERBERT LLOYD, BART. Chippendale Armorial, containing ten quarterings without tinctures and most incorrectly marshalled. Sir Herbert Lloyd of Peterwell, b. 1720, was a son of Walter Lloyd of Voelallt, M.P. for co. Card., 1734-41, by his wife Elizabeth Evans of Peterwell. Sir Herbert was elected M.P. for Cardigan Borough in 1767 ; was created a Baronet in 1763, but committed suicide in London in 1769, leaving no issue, so that the title became extinct. He was twice married, his second wife being Anne Powell of Nanteos, widow of Richard Stedman. She is 'the Lady Anna,' so warmly eulogized by Edward Richard in his charming First Pastoral. An account of this Sir Herbert Lloyd is contained in the Rev. George Eyre Evans' Lampeter, published 1905. In the same volume is also included an illustration of this book plate, with a note by the present writer.

JOHN LLOYD, CLERK, E. COLL. JESU, OXON. Festoon Armorial, c. 1760. Signed 'F. Prothero,' being the only signed book plate by this engraver (see H. W. Fincham, Artists and Engravers of Book Plates, p. 75. Also, see Griggs, Armorial Book Plates, 2nd series, p. 102). The Rev. John Lloyd, who died vicar of Llanarth in 1771, was the younger brother of the second David Lloyd of Alltyrodin, already mentioned. He was a poet of some merit, as can be proved by verses quoted in Mrs. Theakston's Lloyd Family Records and elsewhere. He died without issue, bequeathing his property to his nephew John Lloyd, but the inescutcheon of pretence borne on his family shield proves his marriage with a Miss Watkins, an heiress, at some period of his life. See L. E. Theakston and John Davies' Lloyd Family Records, pp. 79–88.

THOS. LLOYD. Chippendale Armorial. Unidentified.

WM. LLOYD OF QUEEN'S COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE. Chippendale Armorial. Evidently the same plate as the above with the inscription altered.

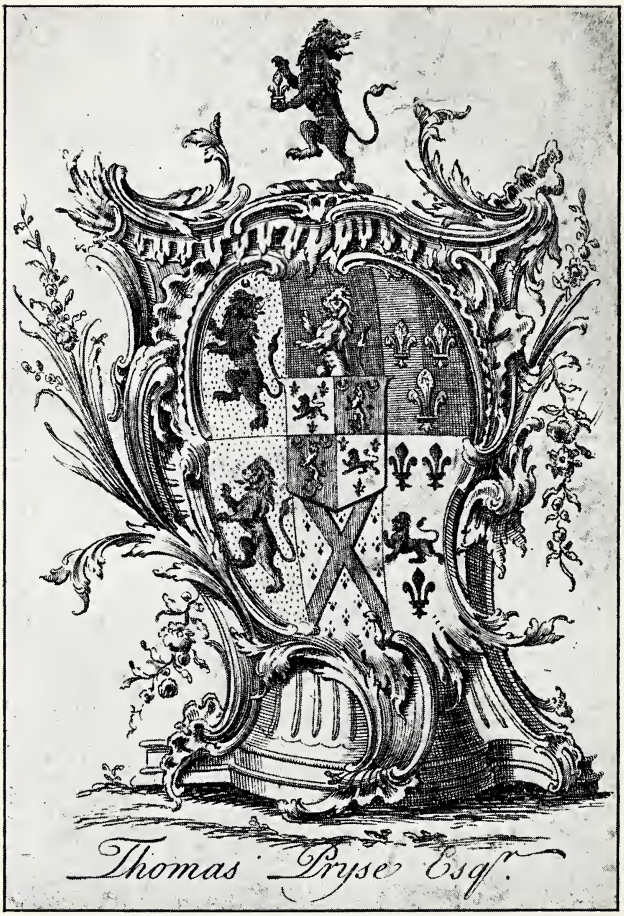
WILLM. LLOYD. Jacobean Armorial, and the earliest in date of these seven Lloyd plates. Unidentified.

SAMUEL RUSH MEYRICK. Plain Armorial. The plate of the eminent Welsh antiquary and historian of Cardiganshire. Sir S. R. Meyrick was closely connected with the county through his early marriage in 1803 with Mary, d. of James Parry of Llwyn Hywel and niece of Thomas Parry of Llidiardau. His only son, Llewelyn Meyrick, F.S.A., died unm. in 1837, and thus predeceased his father, who died in 1848 at Goodrich Court, co. Hereford (see Gentleman's Magazine, July, 1848).

THE ARMS OF THE FAMILY OF PRICE, DESCENDANTS OF SIR RICHARD PRICE OF GOGERTHAN, IN THE COUNTY OF CARDIGAN, KNT. AND BART., 9 Aug., 1641. Jacobean Armorial. An elaborate plate but without any name of owner. Perhaps used by one of the junior branches of the family of Price of Gogerddan, resident in England.

FRANCIS WILLIAM PRICE OF LOVESTON AND GOGARTHAN, ESQRE. Plain Armorial. Circ. 1820. Engraved by Warwick, of 145 Strand. In spite of the place-names given, no such person appears in any of the Gogerddan pedigrees.

MARGARET PRYSE, WOODSTOCK. Chippendale Label, name and place within an ornamental border. Margaret Pryse was d. of Lewis Pryse (by his wife Margaret Ryves of Woodstock), and heiress to her brother Lewis Pryse of Gogerddan. She was married in 1773 to Edward Loveden, of Buscot, Berks., and died 1784. She was the mother of Pryse Loveden, M.P. for Cardigan Borough from 1818–1849, and the great-grandmother of Sir Pryse Pryse, in whose favour the extinct baronetcy was revived in 1866.



From the collection of Mr. H. M. Vaughan, F.S.A., Llangoedmore.

THOMAS PRYSE. Chippendale Armorial, with six quarterings and an inescutcheon of pretence. One of the rarest and finest of Welsh book plates, and also of unusual size, being almost 5 inches tall within the water-mark. Thomas Pryse, son of John Pryse of Glanmeryn, succeeded to the Gogerddan estates on the death of his kinsman Lewis Pryse without male issue in 1720. He was M.P. for Cardigan Borough from 1741 till his death in 1745. He married Maria Pugh, the heiress of Mathafarn, co. Mont., and was father of John Pugh Pryse, who was M.P. for co. Cardigan from 1761 to 1768. This John Pugh Pryse died unm. in 1774, when this branch of the Pryse family became extinct. Not in Franks, Jones, or Marshall.

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE WILMOT VISCOUNT LISBURNE IN THE KINGDOM OF IRELAND. Chippendale Armorial, with coronet and supporters, with the arms of Vaughan borne quarterly with Wilmot. The owner of this plate was either Wilmot Vaughan, 3rd Viscount Lisburne, who d. 1766, or his son, Wilmot, 4th Viscount.

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE WILMOT EARL OF LISBURNE IN THE KINGDOM OF IRELAND. Chippendale Armorial, in two states. Perhaps the same plate as the above with the inscription altered. Wilmot Vaughan, 4th Viscount, was created Earl in 1776. He married (1), in 1754, Elizabeth Nightingale, heiress of Mamhead in co. Devon, who d. 1755; and (2), in 1763, Dorothy Shafto. He died in 1800.

[VAUGHAN.] Festoon Armorial. A remarkable plate with a spade-shaped shield bearing the arms of Collwyn ap Tagno—Sable, a chevron between three fleurs de lys argent. There are also included Lord Lisburne's two supporters. The plate is incorrect from an heraldic standpoint, but was probably intended for Colonel the Hon. John Vaughan, son of the 1st Earl of Lisburne mentioned above, by his second marriage. This Colonel Vaughan ultimately succeeded his half-brother Wilmot as 3rd Earl and 6th Viscount Lisburne in 1820. He married Lucy, d. of Viscount Courtenay, and was father of the 4th Earl. He died 1831.

EDWARDUS YARDLEY, A.M., COLLEGII DI. JOHANNIS CANTAB. SOCIUS, 1721. Jacobean Armorial, with date.

EDWARD YARDLEY, D.D., ARCHDEACON OF CARDIGAN, 1739. Jacobean Armorial with date. Probably the same plate as the above with an altered inscription. Edward Yardley was born in London, 1698; became a fellow of St. John's Coll. Cambridge in 1721. Was instituted Rector of St. Florence, Pem., 1732, and in 1739 was appointed Archdeacon of Cardigan by Bishop Nicholas Claggett, which post he held until 1770. He was an able scholar, and the compiler of the valuable treatise in M.S. known as Menevia Sacra amongst the archives of the Cathedral of St. Davids.

CARMARTHENSHIRE BOOK PLATES.

EDWARD ADAMS, MIDDLETON HALL, CARMARTHENSHIRE. Label with crest. Son of William Adams, of the Island of Barbadoes; purchased Middleton Hall, circ. 1825; H. Sheriff, 1831; M.P. for the county of Carm. 1832–4; married Amelia Macpherson, and was father of Edward Abadam of Middleton Hall, H. Sheriff 1855. Died 1842.

JOHN BALGUY, ESQR. MIDDLE TEMPLE. Festoon Armorial. Of Darwent Hall, co. Derby, born 1747, Second Justice of the Carmarthen Circuit from 1808 to 1828. Died at Duffield, 1833.

HENRY BANKES OF LINCOLN'S INN, ESQR. Chippendale Armorial. Of Kingston Hall, co. Dorset. Deputy to Chief-Justice John Trevor, 1744–7. Married Margaret, d. of John Wynne, bishop of St. Asaph. Died 1776.

[CARMARTHEN FREE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.] Jacobean, bearing the Arms of the Town, with the following inscription: 'In usum Scholæ Maridunensis a Revdo. admodum Morgano Owen Ep. Landav. fundatae.' An interesting local example of the so-called 'presentation book plate,' engraved to commemorate the benefactions of Bishop Morgan Owen of Llandaff, who died in 1645 at his native parish of Myddfai in the county. A specimen of this very rare plate was exhibited at the annual meeting of the Ex-Libris Society in London, in 1906. (See Carm. Antiq. Society's Transactions, vol. I, p.206.) Not in Franks, Jones, or Marshall.[1]

EDWARD CLIVE OF LINCOLN'S INN. Jacobean Armorial. Of Wormbridge, co. Hereford. Deputy to Chief Justice John Trevor of the Carmarthen Circuit, 1741–4. Died 1771.

[1] Reproduced in Carm. Antiq. Soc. Transactions, Part XXVI.

LEWIS EDWARD, HIS BOOK, ANNO DOMINI 1721. Early dated Label, with a rough ornamental border. From the press of Nicholas Thomas of Carmarthen, and therefore probably the first book plate printed in Wales. Owner unidentified, but believed to have lived at Llandeilo-fawr.

E. EDWARDS. Festoon Armorial, with Welsh motto. A rough wood-cut plate with eccentric heraldry. Not uncommon in West Wales, but unidentified.

HUGH EVANS, LANDILO. Label, with name and place in oval border. Unidentified.

EDWARD GOULBURN. Armorial. Younger son of Munbee Goulburn of London. Second Justice of Carmarthen Circuit from 1828–1830. Held the last assize of the Great Sessions of Wales at Carmarthen on Sept. 4th, 1830. Was appointed a Commissioner to assess the amount of compensation due to the officials attached to the old Welsh sessional courts. Died in London 1868.

[GULSTON.] Jacobean Armorial, in three states. The original owner of this plate was Joseph Gulston, M.P. for Poole, d. 1766. Used by his son, Joseph Gulston, of Derwydd, jure uxoris, who married Elizabeth-Bridgetta, d. of Sir Thomas Stepney, Bart. in 1767. Used also by his grandson, Joseph Gulston of Derwydd, who married Susannah Woodham, and died 1790.

ELIZE GULSTON. Chippendale Armorial, a lozenge. A beautiful and much-prized lady's plate, reproduced in Egerton Castle's English Book Plates, p. 99. She was the daughter of Joseph Gulston of Derwydd, by Elizabeth Bridgetta Stepney, his wife. Elize Gulston died unm. 1857.

SAMUEL HEYWOOD. Pictorial and Armorial, signed 'W.H' [enshaw]. A beautiful plate, reproduced in H. W. Fincham's Artists and Engravers of Book Plates, p. 43. Son of Henry Heywood of Liverpool. Serjeant-at-law. Appointed Chief Justice of the Carmarthen Circuit of the Welsh Sessions in 1807, and held this post till his death at Tenby in Sept., 1828.

EDWD. M. D. HOWORTH, ESQR., OF LANDOVERY, CARMARTHENSHIRE. Chippendale Armorial. Edward Mainwaring Davies Howorth, born 1744, was the son of the Rev. Chamberlain Davies, by his wife Anne, d. of Sir Humphrey Howorth, M.P., of Maesllwch Castle, co. Radnor.

(See Williams' History of Radnorshire, pp. 85, 258.) The owner of this plate, who must have assumed the name of his mother's family, was a lineal descendant of the celebrated Vicar Rhys Prichard of Llandovery (see the interesting pedigree in The Story of the Ancient Churches of Llandovery, Trans. Hon. Soc. of Cymmrodorion, Sessions 1911–12, pp. 118, 229). Another plate, of larger size and with different heraldic bearings but of somewhat similar date, describes the owner as 'E. M. D. Howorth of Maeslough, Radnorshire.'

JAMES HUGHES, 1776. Festoon Armorial, with date, reproduced in Hamilton's Dated Book Plates, p. 102. This James Hughes of Carmarthen was the son of Daniel Hughes, by his wife, Amy Powell of Llangunnor. He was father of John William Hughes of Tregeyb (H. Sheriff in 1796) by Elizabeth Williams of Corngafr, his wife.

JOHN LLOYD, CARMARTHEN, 1796. Label, with crest, name and date. Unidentified.

WILLIAM LLOYD OF MAES-ANNOD IN THE VALE OF CLWYD, DENBIGHSHIRE, NORTH WALES. Label, with fanciful border. Described as 'Printed by J. Ross, Carmarthen, 1764.' Unidentified.

MANSEL ISCOED. Jacobean Armorial, a large plate with fourteen coats of arms, the family coat being charged with a label of three points, the mark of an eldest son. Probably the plate of Sir Richard Mansel, before succeeding as 4th Bart. Iscoed was acquired through the marriage of Richard Mansel, grandfather of the 4th Bart, with Catherine, d. and h. of Rees Morgan of Iscoed.

R. MANSEL OF COURT, CARM. Jacobean Armorial. Probably Rawleigh Mansel, of Pembrey Court, son of William Dawkins of Kilvrough, by his wife Mary, d. of Rawleigh Mansel of Killay. He was H. Sheriff 1730, and must have assumed the name of his mother's family. Married Anne, d. of John Williams of Bwlchgwynt, near Carmarthen. (See Spurrell's Carmarthen, second edit., p. 189.)

SIR WILLM. MANSEL, BART., Chippendale Armorial. Plate of the 7th Bart. of the Iscoed line, who married Mary, d. of John Phillips of Coedgain. He was H. Sheriff 1781, and died 1804.

WM. MORGAN, LANDEILO. Label with name inside a border. Unidentified.

[MORGAN.] Festoon Armorial, impaling Warton. Not uncommon in old libraries of the valley of the Teifi. Unidentified, but possibly the plate of a certain General Morgan, who resided in the latter part of the 18th century at Dol-llan, near Llandyssul.

THOMAS MORRIS. Label with crest, name and border. Son of David Morris, banker, of Llanstephan and Carmarthen, and uncle of David Morris, M.P. for Carmarthen Boroughs from 1837 to 1864. H. Sheriff 1834. Married Maria Thornton, and died at Llandrindod Wells 1839.

SIR WM. PAXTON, PICCADILLY. Label, with name. Of Middleton Hall, which estate he acquired by purchase, and whereon he erected the tower known as 'Paxton's Folly,' in commemoration of Lord Nelson's victories. Elected M.P. for Carmarthen Borough 1803, and for the Shire 1806. H. Sheriff 1790. Married Anna Dawnay of Aylesbury. Died in London 1824.

JOHN ROGERS, M.A., VICAR OF CARMARTHEN. Chippendale Armorial. Ordained deacon by the Bishop of Oxford, 24th May, 1730; priest by the Bishop of Peterborough 4th June, 1732; instituted vicar of St. Peter's, Carmarthen, 8th April, 1752; prebendary of St. Davids, 1777; died 1796. (See Carm. Antiq. Soc., Transactions, vol. III., p. 42, and vol. IV., p. 30.) A very scarce plate.

[SIR JOHN STEPNEY.] Festoon Armorial, with supporters. Eldest son of Sir Thomas Stepney, by his wife Eleanor Lloyd of Danyrallt. Succeeded as 7th Bart. in 1773; was M.P. for Monmouth Borough, and for some years Envoy at the courts of Berlin and Vienna. O.s.p. at Vienna 1811, when he was succeeded in the title by his brother, Sir Thomas, on whose death in 1825 the baronetcy became extinct.

EDWARD TENISON, LL.B., ARCHDEACON OF CARMARTHEN. Early Jacobean Armorial. Nephew of Archbishop Tenison. Installed archdeacon of Carmarthen Nov. 20th, 1708, and held this office till 1727, during which time he held a visitation in 1710, the report of which still exists in M.S. in the Registry Office at Carmarthen. (See Carm. Antiq. Soc. Transactions, vol. I., pp., 5, 7). He was nominated Bishop of Ossory in 1731, and died in Dublin in 1735. (See Dict. Nat. Biography, vol. LVI., p. 56).

THE HONBLE JOHN TREVOR. Label, with name only. Perhaps the plate of the Hon. John Trevor, 2nd son of Thomas, 1st Baron Trevor. He was Chief Justice of the Carmarthen Circuit from 1724 to 1753, in which year he succeeded his brother Thomas as 3rd Baron Trevor. He married in 1732 Elizabeth, only d. of Sir Richard Steele. Died at Bath 1764.

RICHD. VAUGHAN, ESQ. Chippendale Armorial. Son of John Vaughan of Shenfield and Golden Grove, who succeeded to the family estates under the will of Anne, Duchess of Bolton. Richard Vaughan married Margaret Philippa Phillips, and was father of John Vaughan, who left Golden Grove by will to John Campbell, Baron Cawdor. This plate is said to exist in several old books preserved at Golden Grove. (See Carm. Antiq. Soc. Trans., vol. III., p. 24). A scarce plate, from the library of the Rev. G. Eyre Evans, Ty Tringad, Aberystwyth.

THIS BOOK BELONGS TO FRAS. B. WILKINSON, ESQ., MILL BANK LODGE, CARMARTHEN, SOUTH WALES. Label with border, circ. 1790. Unidentified.

SIR GEOE. GRIFFIES WILLIAMS, BART. Plain Armorial, circ. 1815. Of Llwynywormwood Park, near Llandovery. Son of the Rev. George Griffies, by Anne Thackeray, his wife. Assumed the additional name of Williams under the will of his uncle David Williams of Carmarthen. Created a baronet 1815. Married Anna-Margaretta, d. of Herbert Evans of Highmead, co. Card. H. Sheriff 1791. Died at Boulogne in 1843, and was succeeded by his eldest son, Sir Erasmus, canon and chancellor of St. Davids.

SIR NICHOLAS WILLIAMS, OF EDWINSFORD, BART. Jacobean Armorial. Eldest son of Sir Rice Williams, Knt. of Edwinsford, by his wife, Mary Vaughan of Llanelly. Was M.P. and Lord-Lieut. for the county. Created baronet in 1707. Married Mary Cocks, niece of Lord Somers, but o.s.p. in 1745, when the title became extinct. A rare plate (not in Franks, Jones, or Marshall), which was exhibited at the Annual Conversazione of the Carm. Antiq. Society on January 27th, 1910. (See Transactions, vol. VI., p. 66.)

PEMBROKESHIRE BOOK PLATES.

JOSH. FOSTER BARHAM. Chippendale Armorial. Inherited Trecoon from his aunt, Mrs. Martha Vaughan. (See Fenton's Historical Tour, p. 343).

JAS. BOWEN, ESQR. Festoon Armorial, impaling Bowen of Llwyngwair. Father of Thomas Bowen of Pantyderi, who married ———, d. and h. of William Morgan Williams of Trefach (H. Sheriff of co. Card. 1784); and grandfather of James William Bowen, Q.C., of Plas-y-Bridell.

THIS / BOOK WAS GIVEN IN 1800 / BY THE ASSOCIATES / OF THE LATE REV. DR. BRAY / TO THE LENDING LIBRARY / OF THE DEANERY OF RHOS AND DUNGLEDDY / IN THE COUNTY OF PEMBROKE / AND DIOCESE OF ST. DAVIDS / ESTABLISHED BY THE ASSOCIATES 1808. Presentation Label with oval border. The place-names are written in with ink.

JOHN CAMPBELL OF CALDER AND STACKPOLE COURT. Chippendale Armorial. Eldest son of Sir Alexander Campbell of Calder, or Cawdor, in Scotland, by his wife Elizabeth, sister and h. of Sir Gilbert Lort, 3rd and last baronet of Stackpole Court. He married Mary, d. and co-h. of Lewis Pryse of Gogerddan, co. Card., was M.P. for the shire 1727–47. Died 1777.

[PRYSE CAMPBELL.] Chippendale Armorial. Son and heir of the above, M.P. for co. Nairn; married Sarah, d. of Sir Edward Bacon, Bart.; and was father of John Campbell, created Baron Cawdor in 1795. Predeceased his father in 1768.

[FENTON.] Plain Armorial, with Welsh motto. Apparently the plate of Richard Fenton of Glynymel, the eminent barrister and author of the Historical Tour in Pembrokeshire. Born at St. Davids in 1746; married a Swiss lady, d. of Capt. David Pillet; and was buried at Manorowen in 1821. (See Rev. R. Williams' Eminent Welshmen, p. 155). He was the son of Richard Fenton by Martha his wife, and grandson of Richard Fenton of Fishguard, by Diana his wife, the daughter of John Lewis of Manorowen, Pems.

ABEL ANTHONY GOWER. Plain Armorial. 2nd son of Abel Gower, of Castle Malgwyn, Glandovan, Pont-faen and Clynderwen, by his wife Letitia, d. of Rev. Erasmus Lewes. Was younger brother of Admiral Sir Erasmus Gower, Governor of Newfoundland. Died unm. at Glandovan, 1837.

WILLIAM HOLCOMBE. Chippendale Armorial. Signed 'J. Fougeron sculp.' Circ. 1760. Fougeron also designed in the same year the plate of the Pembroke Society mentioned below. (See Fincham's Artists and Engravers of Book Plates, p. 31). Probably the eldest son of William Holcombe, who married Miss Meyrick of Bush, and elder brother of Archdeacon George Holcombe of Carmarthen. O.s.p. (See Burke's Landed Gentry, edn. of 1847, vol. I., p. 582.)

T[HOMAS] L[EWIS.] Festoon, with crest and cipher. Thomas Lewis of Clynfyw, married Elizabeth, d. of William Lewis, of Llwyngrawys, co. Card. Was father of Col. W. H. Lewis, H. Sheriff 1847.

WILLIAM MEARE. Jacobean Armorial. Circ. 1720, showing the coat of the Meare family—Argent, a three-masted ship with sails furled sable. Apparently the plate of the son of George Meare, or Mears, of Jestynton, H. Sheriff 1692. Married Elizabeth Hawkwell of Llawhaden, and was grandfather of George Mears of Plâs Llanstephan, co. Carm., H. Sheriff 1815.

ANNA MARIA OWEN. Jacobean Armorial, a lozenge with the arms of Owen of Henllys, lord of Kemes. Probably of Anne, the widow of William Owen of Henllys (died 1721), and d. of John Mathias, of Llangwarren. (See Pedigree of Sir Thomas Davies Lloyd, Bart. of Bronwydd, in the Baronia de Kemeys, published by the Camb. Arch. Assoc., N.D.)

PEMBROKE SOCIETY. Pictorial, signed 'J. Fougeron sculp.' Circ. 1760. The rare and interesting plate of the Pembroke Book Society. (See Note in Journal of the Welsh Bibliographical Society, June, 1913, vol. I, p. 152.)

COSBY PHILIPPS. Jacobean Armorial. Son of General Richard Philipps, Governor of Nova Scotia, by his first wife, Elizabeth Cosby, of Stradbally, Queen's County. A Captain in the Army; married Teresa ———, and died at Port Mahon, Minorca, in 1736. Lineal ancestor of Sir Wynford Philipps, 13th Baronet, now Baron St. Davids of Roch Castle.

ERASMUS PHILIPPS. Chippendale Armorial, with trophies of arms. Signed 'Barber, Ratcliff Cross.' (See Fincham's Artists and Engravers of Book Plates, p. 6.) Unidentified, but with the Armorial coat of Philipps of Picton.

SIR JNO. PHILIPPS, BART. Chippendale Armorial. 6th Bart. of Picton Castle, who succeeded his brother Sir Erasmus. He married Elizabeth Shepperd of London, and was father of Sir Richard Philipps, 7th Bart, created Baron Milford in 1776. Sir John, who was President of the Society of Sea Sergeants, died in 1764.

JOHN PHILIPPS LAUGHARNE, INNER TEMPLE. Chippendale Armorial, with arms of Philipps of Picton only. Of Orlandon House, the friend of Richard Fenton the antiquary. (See Fenton's Historical Tour, p. 161.) Eldest son of Rowland Philipps Laugharne, by Anne Laugharne his wife. He married Elizabeth Allen, and was father of Sir Henry Rowland Laugharne Philipps, 8th Bart., of Picton.

WILLIAM PHILIPPS. Chippendale Armorial. A very frequent plate, found in several states. William Philipps of Sandyhaven and Haythog, H. Sheriff in 1736, was eldest son of Charles Philipps of Sandyhaven, of the Picton family. He married Albinia Laugharne, and was father of William Philipps of St. Bride's Hill, H. Sheriff in 1790, in whom this line became extinct.

WM. SCOURFIELD, ESQR., OF NEW MOAT, IN THE COUNTY OF PEMBROKE AND OF BRECON, IN THE COUNTY OF BRECKNOCK. Pictorial Armorial, signed 'Darling ft.' Circ. 1760. (See Fincham's Artists and Engravers of Book Plates, p. 23). A rare and elegant plate. The owner was the son of William Scourfield, H. Sheriff 1699, and married Anne, d. of William Philipps, Recorder of Brecon. Was father of Henry Scourfield, H. Sheriff in 1781.

STEPNEY. Early Jacobean Armorial.

GEORGIUS STEPNEY. Early Jacobean Armorial, the same plate with altered inscription.

GEORGE STEPNEY, ESQR. ONE OF THE COUNCILL OF TRADE. Early Jacobean Armorial. All these three plates belonged apparently to George Stepney, poet and diplomatist, son of George Stepney, Groom of the Chamber to Charles II., and a lineal descendant of Alban Stepney of Prendergast. George Stepney, who was born in 1663, was appointed a Commissioner of Trade and Plantations in 1697, and died at Chelsea in 1707. He was buried in Westminister Abbey beneath a fine monument in the south aisle of the nave. (See Dict. Nat. Biog., vol. LIV. p. 190.)

JOHN SYMMONS, ESQ. Festoon Armorial. John Symmons,[1] of Paddington House, who with his brother, the Rev. Charles Symmons, D.D., represented the family of Symmons, of Amblestone and Llanstinan. A John Symmons of Llanstinan was H. Sheriff in 1713, and another John Symmons of Llanstinan was M.P. for Cardigan Boroughs 1747—1767. Richard Fenton (Historical Tour, p. 342) speaks of Llanstinan as being in ruins,[2] and also mentions his personal friendship with these two Symmons brothers.

WM. WILLIAMS, ESQR., IVY TOWER, PEMBROKESHIRE. Label with ornamental border. William Williams of Ivy Tower, near Tenby, was H. Sheriff in 1766, and four times Mayor of Tenby. Was author of Primitive History and other literary works. Claimed to represent the family of Nicholas Ferrar, bishop of St. Davids, who was burned at Carmarthen in 1555. His d. and h. Maria was married to Orlando Harris, who assumed his wife's surname, and was H. Sheriff in 1824.

JOHN WOGAN OF WISTON. Pictorial Armorial. Circ. 1750. Of Wiston and Hean Castle, H. Sheriff 1745. Married Susanna Parsons, and was father of John Wogan of Wiston, whose daughters, co-heiresses, sold Wiston to John Campbell, 1st Baron Cawdor. A rare plate, not in Franks, Jones, or Marshall.

The Musgraves of Llanina.

By FRANCIS GREEN.

In his account of the Abermeurig Family, published in Vol. II., p.149, Mr. J. H. Davies pointed out that the marriage of Ann, the daughter of Deborah (daughter of Ieuan Gwyn Fychan, and widow of Ernest Musgrave) to Philip Pugh of Blaenpenal, if it really occurred, opened up an interesting connection with the Quaker families of Musgrave, Dillwyn, and Weston. Curiously enough almost immediately after the article in question was printed, some interesting copies of Notes in regard to the Musgrave family came into the writer's hands, which he has since had an opportunity of comparing with the originals. One of these documents contained extracts made by Mr. Lewis Dillwyn, from a voluminous pedigree of his family. Another document is a copy, dated 31 Jan., 1836, of notes relating to the Musgraves, which are stated to have been written by Peregrine Bowen, who was most probably the grandson[1] of Evan Bowen by his wife Susanna, the grand-daughter of Ernestus Musgrave by his wife Deborah Gwyn. The extracts made by Mr. Lewis Dillwyn contains practically the same information that is given in the notes written by Peregrine Bowen, but there are a few discrepancies which are probably errors of the copyist.

[1] It is impossible to be certain as to the identity of the author of the notes in question, as Evan Bowen had a son, grandson, and great-grandson named Peregrine.

These documents are the more interesting as they both state that the marriage of Philip Pugh to Ann Jones, the daughter of Deborah Musgrave, took place. The following account of the Musgrave family has been compiled chiefly from the sources above mentioned, and partly from notes furnished by Mr. J. H. Davies of Aberystwyth, and from other records in the writer's possession. It should be stated that in connection with dates the New Style of the year has been adopted throughout the article.

The Musgraves, as their name suggests, were of English extraction, and their home it is believed was in Yorkshire.[1] The first of the family to arrive in Wales was Ernestus Musgrave, who, to avoid some political persecution, escaped to the Principality, and settled at Llanina, in Cardiganshire. The particular cause which led him to seek refuge in Wales is by no means clear. According to one document he is said to have been a royalist,[2] while another states that he was a Puritan. The date of his arrival in Wales is also unknown. It seems certain, however, that he was in Cardiganshire prior to 1650, as he is mentioned as one of the parties in an action for non-payment of tithe in the parish of Llanarth in that year.[3] He is also mentioned in the account made in 1655, of the Proceedings of the Commissioners for the Propagation of the Gospel in Wales. This shows that he received a salary of £40 in 1650, for acting apparently as solicitor in Cardiganshire.[4]

[1] Peregrine Bowen's MS.

[2] Peregrine Bowen's MS. The copyist originally described Ernestus Musgrave as a Puritan; but the word 'Puritan' is crossed out and 'Royalist' written overhead in somewhat later ink, but as will be seen later on in the text, it is most probable that he belonged to the Commonwealth party.

[4] Walker's MSS., c. 13, at the Bodleian Library.

Ernestus Musgrave married Deborah Gwyn of Moelifor, Cardiganshire. The date of his marriage has not been ascertained, but it is evident that it took place in or before 1643, as his eldest son Peregrine was born at Llanina,[1] on 4 Jan., 1644.

The date when Ernestus Musgrave died is unknown, but after his death his widow Deborah, married David Jones of Coedmawr, and by him had a daughter named Ann, who married Philip Pugh of Blaenpenal. From this last marriage there were two sons, Philip, David, and a daughter Gwen Pugh.

The children of Ernestus Musgrave by his wife Deborah Gwyn were as follows.—

1. Peregrine Musgrave (eldest son).
2. Deborah Musgrave, who died unmarried. Mr. Dillwyn's extracts give the name of this child as 'Daniel,' and in this is corroborated by Alcwyn Evans' MS., which states that Daniel died unmarried.
3. Elinor Musgrave, who married George Paynter of Broomhill, in the parish of Dale, Pems., and afterwards went to America and resided at Philadelphia. Their grand-daughter Susanna, married John Dillwyn, and was the grandmother[2] of Mr. Lewis Weston Dillwyn, M.P. for Glamorganshire in 1832–37.

Peregrine Musgrave (the eldest son of Ernestus and Deborah Musgrave) removed from Cardiganshire to the adjoining county of Pembroke, and started business as a mercer in Haverfordwest, at which place he joined the Society of Friends.

[1] Peregrine Bowen's MS.

[2] Peregrine Bowen's MS. According to Alcwyn Evans' MS., Susanna was the daughter of George Paynter.

The earliest reference to his residence in Pembrokeshire is found in Richard Davies's Journal (1765), p. 156, where Davies says :

> We also appointed a meeting at Newcastle, in Carmarthenshire; Peregrine Musgrave, James Lewis, and several other friends accompanied us to the meeting at Newcastle.

Davies had proceeded to Newcastle from Pembrokeshire, where he had visited Quakers at Haverfordwest and Puncheston. This must have occurred before the year 1669, as he refers to that date a few pages further on in his Journal. Peregrine Musgrave is also mentioned in Besse's Sufferings of the Quakers, Vol. I., p. 762, where it is recorded that his goods, to the value of 5s. 6d., were sold owing to his refusal to pay tithe. He was then described as of 'Martin's Parish,'[1] which proves that he was then living at Haverfordwest. The exact date of this event is not given, but it must have been between the years 1687 and 1690.

Peregrine Musgrave married on 29 Sept., 1674, Alice, the daughter of Lewis David of Llanddewi (Velfrey), Pems. Lewis David was one of the most prominent Quakers in Pembrokeshire. He is constantly referred to in Besse's Sufferings of the Quakers from the year 1661, when he was committed to prison for refusing to give security that he would not attend meetings of the Quakers, up till 1687, when he was mulcted of £16 13s. 10d., for refusal to pay tithes. He is also mentioned in Richard Davies's Journal, p. 137.

Lewis David in 1681 joined with other Welsh Quakers in purchasing a portion of the land acquired by William Penn in Pennsylvania. In the patent he is described as 'of Llandewy Velfrey, Pembrokeshire, gentleman,' and the amount of his purchase was 3,000 acres. Most of this was sold by him to emigrants from Pembrokeshire and Cardiganshire in 1682, but he retained about 750 acres for himself.[1] A full account of the dealings with his lands has recently been published in The Welsh Settlement of Pennsylvania, by C. H. Browning, from which it appears that he emigrated to Pennsylvania about the year 1687, and died there early in 1708.

In the same book[2] there is a record of the sale by him of 260 acres in the township of Haverford, Pennsylvania, to Peregrine Musgrave, who by deed, dated 14 Nov., 1699, sold the same to one Samuel Lewis.[3] There are also references to Peregrine Musgrave in the same work, e.g., as a member of the monthly meeting of the Friends at Redstone in Pembrokeshire, Sept. 2, 1683; a letter is also directed to be sent to one Thomas Ellis, 'in care of Peregrine Musgrave, clothier in Haverfordwest, in Pembrokeshire, South Wales,' and Peregrine Musgrave is dated to have signed the certificate of one David Jones as a member of the men's meeting at Haverfordwest on 4 Mar., 1700.

Peregrine Musgrave died at Haverfordwest on 14 May, 1712, his body being interred[4] at East Hook, Pems. The issue from his marriage to his wife Alice David was:—

1. Lewis Musgrave, who was born at Haverfordwest on 28 Nov., 1684.

[3] Samuel Lewis was probably the son of Henry Lewis of Maencoch, in the township of Haverford, Pennsylvania, who in 1682 bought 1000 acres of Lewis David's grant in that township. Henry Lewis emigrated to Pennsylvania from the parish of Narberth, Pems.; and in his will mentions his son Samuel Lewis.—Merion in the Welsh Tract, p. 390–1.
[4] Lewis Dillwyn's Extracts.

2. Deborah Musgrave, who married[1] Bethel Weston, by whom she has three[2] children—Peregrine Weston, Sarah Weston, and Alice Weston.

3. Susanna Musgrave, who married Evan Bowen of Prendergast, Pems., the son of Evan Bowen, senior of the same place.

Judging by the will of Peregrine Musgrave, which was dated 11 July, 1712, and proved at Carmarthen on 21 July in the same year, it might be imagined that he did not accumulate a fortune in trade. The largest legacy is £15, given to his grand-daughter Sarah Weston; to his wife and two daughters the testator gave merely 1s. each, and the only other bequest was 50s., which was to be distributed between the poor by his son and executor Lewis Musgrave, and Evan Bowen and James Lewis, the son in law and cousin respectively of the testator. The inventory of Peregrine Musgrave's personalty was valued for probate at £126, so it is probable that he had previously given portions to his wife and children.

Lewis (the son of Peregrine and Alice Musgrave) appears also to have belonged to the Society of Friends, and to have carried on the business of a clothier in Haverfordwest. He married on 3 Oct., 1703, at the meeting-house at Redstone, Pems., Margaret, the daughter of Evan Bowen of Prendergast, mercer, by his wife Mary. By a post-nuptial settlement made after his father's death, Lewis Musgrave conveyed to the above mentioned, Evan Bowen and James Lewis of Llanddewy Velfrey, three houses and gardens in the parish of St. Mary, Haverfordwest. One of these houses had been the residence of his father, and was then in the tenure of Wyrriot Owen, Esq., and another has been in the occupation of Frances Fenton the great-aunt of the well-known Pembrokeshire man, Richard Fenton; all the property was to be held on trust for the grantor and his wife Margaret, for their lives, with remainder to the appointees of the said Lewis Musgrave.

[1] Deborah Musgrave married, as her second husband, one Thomas Owen.

[2] According to Mr. J. H. Davies's notes, there were 5 children; namely, Sarah, Peregrine, Edward, David, and Lewis, the last-mentioned child being the father of Sarah Weston, who married William Dillwyn, and became the parents of Lewis Weston Dillwyn, M.P.

The children of Lewis and Margaret Musgrave were :—

1. Peregrine Musgrave, who was born at Haverfordwest on 8 Aug., 1704, and died on 18 July, 1707.
2. Ernestus Musgrave, who was born at Haverfordwest on 15 Aug., 1706, and died unmarried.
3. Peregrine Musgrave, born on 6 Feb., 1708–9, and died unmarried.
4. Daniel Musgrave, born 10 Mar. 1710–11, and died unmarried.
5. Sarah Musgrave, who was born on 15 July, 1713, and died on 28 Aug., 1716.
6. Mary Musgrave, who was born on 16 Mar., 1715–16, and died unmarried at the residence of her relative Thyn H. Gwyn, Esq., at Bucklin, co. Brecon.
7. Ann Musgrave, who was born on 5 Nov., 1718, and married George Fisher of Bristol, the children from the marriage being George Fisher, Francis Fisher, Margaret Fisher, and Lewis Fisher.
8. Sarah Musgrave, born on 28 June, 1721. She married Mark Stains, and by him had a daughter who married Edward Mathias of Castle Morris, in the parish of Mathry, Pems.

Lewis Musgrave by his will, dated 2 Jan., 1733, and proved at Carmarthen in the same year, appointed all the property comprised in his post-nuptial settlement —subject to his wife's life estate, and to legacies of £200 to his son Daniel, and of £200 to each of his (testator's) daughters Mary, Anne, and Sarah, when they were 21— to his second son Peregrine Musgrave, and his issue, with similar remainders to testator's other surviving children in succession. Ernestus Musgrave, the eldest son, was left only £5, from which it would appear that he had previously had his share. The residue of the personalty was given to testator's widow Margaret, who was also appointed executrix. Lewis Musgrave seems to have been successful in business, as the valuation of his personalty amounted to £1047 14s., and it included no less than 107 ounces of plate valued at £26 15s., and a silver teapot set down in the list at £6. It is also interesting to note that among his effects was a 'dog wheel in the kitchen.'

The above list of the children of Lewis Musgrave by his wife Margaret is taken from a copy of entries in an old family Bible, then in the possession of Mr. Robert Dyer of Auckland, New Zealand. It will be observed that Peregrine Musgrave, the eldest son, died in his father's lifetime, and that the Ernestus Musgrave, described in his father's will as the eldest son, was really the eldest surviving son. All of the sons of Lewis Musgrave died unmarried, and on the death of the survivor of them, the direct male line of the Musgrave family became extinct. Descendants on the distaff side, however, are still living in Pembrokeshire and elsewhere. Among them may be mentioned the grandchildren of the late Mr. Charles Hugh Allen of Rickeston, Pems., and the children of the late Mr. Charles Ernestus Bowen, by his wife Mary Musgrave Hyde. It is to this last-mentioned lady to whom the writer of this article is indebted for the loan of the Notes by Peregrine Bowen, and several of the other documents mentioned above.

Slebech. St. John the Baptist.

This benefice was one of the churches granted by Wizo, the Fleming, Lord of Wiston, Walter his son, and Walter the son of Walter, to the knights Hospitallers of St. John of Jerusalem, under whom the church of Slebech was served by a curate. On the dissolution of the monastic establishments the advowson with the other possessions of the Slebech Commandery came into the hands of the Crown, and in 1546 was purchased by Roger Barlow, whose descendants resided at Slebech till towards the end of the 17th century.

The church of Slebech was endowed by George Barlow (the grandson of Roger Barlow, who acquired the advowson from the Crown) with a house and land, and tithes of the parish of Slebech, etc. See Vol. III., p. 138.*

In the list of churches appropriated to the preceptory of Slebech appears this entry in the Valor Eccl.:—Ecclesia de Slebeche per annum cx^{s}.

Under the heading 'Not in Charge':—Slebech Cur. (St. John Baptist). Preceptory of Slebeche olim Impr.; William Knox, Esq. £5 certified value.—Bacon's Liber Regis.

* In the text of and notes to this article, when only the number of volume, page, or note is given, the reference is to West Wales Historical Records.

The site of the old church of Slebech lies between the mansion of Slebech and the river, where its remains are still to be seen, only the main walls being left. The churchwardens' accounts (which commence with the year 1706) show that from the year 1757 constant repairs were required by the church. In 1747 a payment of 9s. was made for 'tileing the church,' but whether this refers to the floor or the roof is uncertain ; it may be mentioned, however, that there are tiles on a portion of the floor of the church at the present time. The accounts indicate that the church was steadily decaying, as in 1762 no fewer than 3000 slates were purchased at 7s. 6d. per thousand, and 3000 more slates at 7s. per thousand were bought in 1763, while on 8 Mar., 1764, Lewis Harry was paid for 4½ days work at 1s. 2d. per day, for repairing 'several small breaches broken on the roof of the church by storms at different times in February.'

It would appear that in 1766 the ceiling, or a portion of it, fell down. The accounts show that 8000 slates at 7s. per thousand, 1000 ft. of deal at 1s. per ft., 40 bundles of laths at 1s. 4d. per bundle, 180 bushels of lime at 1s. per bushel, and 8 lbs. of lath nails at 2s. 6d. per lb., were bought for repairs, while among other disbursements to workmen, Owen, the boatman, received 4s. for the job of 'stripping the church.' From this period down till the year 1804 there was frequent expenditure on the maintenance of the church, and in the last mentioned year 8000 slates, at 11s. 6d. per thousand, were purchased. In 1804 John Harries received £5 10s. 3d. for tiling the church at 7d. per yard, the area repaired by him being 169 yards, From 1804 down till 1812 (the latest year covered by the accounts) but little appears to have been spent on the up-keep of the church, but in the last mentioned year a new wheel for the bell was obtained from Morris Owen at the cost of £1 1s., and £1 15s. was laid out in acquiring a chest to hold the parish records.

Many interesting entries are contained in these accounts. One of these is the payment in 1706 of 1s. for a 'locke to ye stockes,' which indicates that this form of punishment was still in vogue in the parish at that time. Another is the payment of 2s. in 1709 to John Howell 'for a foxe'—a payment which suggests that foxes were more plentiful in that district than at the present day.

The three perpetual curacies of Slebech, Minwear, and Newton were united under an Order in Council dated 4 Mar., 1844.

The new church of Slebech was built about 66 years ago, and was consecrated in 1848.

On 3 Feb., 1904, a faculty was granted for the carrying out of certain alterations and improvements in the parish Church.

Spital. St. Mary.

This benefice originally belonged to the bishop of St. Davids. In 1224 Bishop Gervase established the office of a precentor in the cathedral of St. Davids, and endowed it with the prebends of 'the Hospital,' [the ancient name of Spital,] and Llandrudian with all their appurtinances.—Stat. Mens. Under this grant the precentor became the rector of Spital, the church of which was served by a curate, appointed by the precentor.

Described as 'Ecclesia Hospitalis,' this church was assessed at £8 13s. 4d. in 1291, the tenths payable thereon to the King being 17s. 4d.—Taxatio.

There appears to be no mention of this benefice in the Valor Eccl.

Under the heading 'Not in Charge':—Spittle alias Spittal Cur. (St. Mary). Precentor of St. Davids Patr. £5 10s. 0d. certified value.—Bacon's Liber Regis.

On 20 May, 1567, the tithes of the prebend and parsonage of Spital were leased by Thomas Huett, the precentor, to Nicholas Goddard of Rudbaxton, Pems., yeoman, for 40 years at the yearly rent of £13 6s. 8d., the lessee to provide a curate to serve the church. The next mention of a lessee of this benefice is in 1668 when the rectory, etc., was granted to James Haward of Rudbaxton, Pems., Esq., for the lives of Thomas Haward (son and heir apparent of said James Haward), Mary Haward, (daughter of said James Haward), and Griffith Tanckred, of Easter Dudwell, Pems., gent. (nephew of James Haward) at the yearly rent of £13 6s. 8d., and a fine of £50, the tenant to find meat for the precentor and a horse, when he came to preach at Spital. This lease was granted on the surrender of a former lease for the life of Ursula Haward, the second daughter of George Haward, senior, of Flether Hill in the parish of Rudbaxton deceased.

Stackpole Elidor. St. Elidor and St. James.

This benefice comprised a rectory as well as a vicarage. George Owen states that the rectory was a sinecure, and that both it and the vicarage were in 1594 appendant to the manor of Stackpole [Elidor].—Owen's Pem.

The church of Stackpole Elidor was founded by Elidor de Stackpole, who owned the manor of Stackpole, and lived in the early part of the 12th century. The manor remained in the possession of the Stackpole family until the death of Richard de Stackpole, the last of the male line of the Stackpoles of Stackpole, when the manor decended by the marriage of his heiress to Sir Richard Vernon of Harlaston, Stafford. It remained in the possession of the Vernon family till the death of George Vernon in 1567, when his coheiress, Margaret, brought Stackpole as her dowry to Sir Thomas Stanley.—Old Pembroke Families. p. 25-29.

The manor and advowson of Stackpole Elidor and also the manor and advowson of Stackpole Bosher [Bosherston], apparently continued in the possession of the Stanley family, as on 4 Dec., 1611, they were all purchased by Roger Lort and his son Harry, on 4 Dec., 1611, from Sir Edward Stanley, of Tonge Castle, Salop, Knt., and Sir Michael Hickes of Ruckholde, Essex, Knt.—Inq. P.M. of Roger Lort, 12 Jac. I. The Lort family held the manor till the death of Sir Gilbert Lort without issue in 1698, when it descended to his sister Elizabeth, who married Sir Alexander Campbell of Calder, the ancestor of the present Earl Cawdor.

Under the name 'Ecclesia Stak' Elyder,' this church was in 1291 assessed at £20 for tenths to the King, the sum payable being £2.—Taxatio.

The vicarage appears to have been merged in the rectory after the death of James Summers, the vicar instituted in 1814.

[9] Presented by John, Lord Cawdor. He was rector of St. Petrox and perpetual curate of St. Martin, Haverfordwest.—Report on Plural.

Steynton. St. Cewydd.

The church of St. Kewit de Steynton [Steynton] was granted by Adam de Rupe [Roch] with the consent of his wife, Blandina, and his heir, to the monks of the order of Tiron in the monastery of Pill, Pems.—Dug. Monas. On the dissolution of Pill Priory the patronage of Steynton Church came into the hands of the Crown.

In 1536–7 a lease of the rectory of Steynton, lately owned by the priory of Pill, was granted for 21 years by the Crown to John Wogan.—State Papers.

This church was in 1291 assessed at £18 for tenths to the King, the sum payable being £1 16s.—Taxatio.

Et percipit annuatim proficuum et redditum videlicet de tenementis in Rosemarkett xxxiij^{s} iiij^{d} per annum, in Thorneton xxiiij^{s} et in Drewiston x^{s}. Summa valoris lxvij^{s} iiij^{d}. Inde in redditibus resol' et pro finibus secte curie pro predictis tenementis quolibet anno iij^{s}. Et remanet clare 64s. 4d. Inde decima 6s. 5¼d.—Valor Eccl.

Under the heading 'Livings Discharged':—Staineton alias Steynton V. united to Johnston (St. Peter called St. Kewil in the Monasticon). Ordinario quolibet tertio anno, 6d. Archidiac. quolibet anno, 2s. 4d. Parv. Mans., &c. Pri. Pill olim Propr. ; The Prince of Wales. Clear yearly value, £48. King's Books, £9 17s. 3½d.—Bacon's Liber Regis.

Lewis's Topographical Dictionary of Wales, ed. 1833, says, ' A chapel of ease to the mother church [Steynton], dedicated to St. Catherine, is situated at the eastern extremity of the street fronting the haven : it was erected chiefly at the expense of the Hon. Charles Francis Greville, lord of the manor, and was consecrated for divine service in the year 1808 . . . . . A little to the east of the present edifice are the remains of an ancient chapel, which was also dedicated to St. Catherine, and, after having been desecrated for many years, was converted into a powder magazine : it consisted of a nave and chancel, with a finely vaulted roof, which is still [1833] entire : the western end has fallen down, but the boundaries of the ancient cemetery may be distinctly traced.'—Paroch. Wall.

A lease, dated 4 Aug., 4 Edw. III. (1330), and granted by William de Rupe, lord of Roch, to Richard de Steynton, chaplain, mentions a chapel dedicated to St. Thomas the Martyr, in the townred of Pill Oliver.—Arch. Camb. Ser. II., Vol. III., p. 267.

The rectory of Johnston was probably united to the vicarage of Steynton in the 17th century, at all events all the incumbents of Steynton subsequent to and inclusive of the vicar for 1663 have also held the rectory of Johnston. For vicars of Steynton subsequent to 1663, see under Johnston, Vol. II., p. 212.

On 24 July, 1882, a faculty was granted for the restoration of the parish church.

[1] In Feb., 1411, Richard Jordan, perpetual vicar of Steynton, illegitimate, obtained dispensation from the pope to hold a benefice with cure. On 8 July, 1421, Richard Jordan (probably the same person), described as vicar and as being of a noble race of barons, obtained licence from the pope to hold any other compatible benefice, not exceeding 20 marks in value.—Papal Reg.

[2] Presented by the prior of Pulla. He only held the living a little over a year, as on 18 Dec., 1491, the vicarage was by the prior of Pulla [Pill] committed to John Howell, vicar of Laugharne, for six months, vice William Powell, deceased.

[3] Presented by the prior of Pulla. The date of the year is uncertain.

[4] Presented by the prior of Pulla. Richard Pencaer signed the abjuration of papal authority in 1534.—State Papers. Described as 'Richard Cayre,' he is mentioned as being vicar in 1535–6.—Valor Eccl.

[5] Lewis Dwnn, Vol. I., p. 112. Gabriel Buckley was appointed overseer of the will, dated 12 Jan., 1614, of David Boulton of Boulton Hill, in the parish of Steynton, and was on 12 April, 1616, appointed guardian of the children of John Harries of Foord, in the same parish, by his will proved at Carmarthen on 14 June, 1616.

[6] Presented by the Crown.—Liber Institut. John Prichard was rector of Lanstadwell in 1623. See Vol. II., p. 257, Note 7.

[7] Presented by the Crown.—Liber Institut.

[8] Thomas Freeman was deprived of his living in 1662, on account of nonconformity. He also held Hubberston and Johnston.—Sequestration Book. See Vol. II., p. 208, Note 8.

[9] Presented by the King.

Talbenny. St. Mary.

The rectory of Talbenny was appendant to the manor of that name.—Owen's Pem. In the beginning of the 14th century the Roch family held the patronage, and from them it descended to the Devereux of Lamphey, Earls of Essex, and from them it was acquired by the Owens of Orielton.

In 1291 this church was assessed at £6 13s 4d. for tenths to the King, the sum payable being 13s. 4d.—Taxatio.

Talvenny.—Ecclesia ibidem ex collacione domini de Ferrers unde Thomas Beynon est rector habens rectoriam ibidem et glebam. Et valet fructus hujus rectorie communibus annis x^{li}. [1] On 14 March, 1292, the Pope issued a mandate to the Bishop of St. Davids to grant a dispensation to Master Alan de Creppinge, canon of Hereford, who before the Council of Lyons, held the church of Talbenni in the said diocese, and afterwards held the churches of Berele and St. Peter Manecroft, in the diocese of Norwich, of the value of £22 according to the taxation of W., late bishop of Norwich, to hold those benefices together with his canonry and prebend, a portion of the fruits received being given to the said churches.—Papal Reg. The last previous Council of Lyons was held in 1274, so Alan de Creppinge must have been rector of Talbenny about the year 1273.

[2] On 2 Feb., 1307, Alan Dumpildale obtained a lease for his life, from David de Rupe (for the sum of ten marks), of the mansion of the latter at Talbenny with two orchards and a right of common in Talbenny, and a piece of land at Brodmore [Broadmoor].—Arch. Camb. Ser. II., Vol. III., p. 259.

[3] Presented by the King by reason of his custody of the land and heir of John de la Roche, Knt., tenant in chief.—Pat. Rolls.

[4] Presented by Elizabeth (widow of Thomas Roche, by right of dower), and Edmund Ferrers and George Lungeville, in right of their wives, the daughters and heirs of Thomas Roche.

[5] Philip Persivall also held Hodgeston.

[6] Presented by John ap Rees in right of his wife Margaret, 'lady of Talbenny and Howeliston in Rous.' This presentation led to a suit in the King's court at Westminister in regard to the right of presentation, which resulted in Sir John Devereux, Knt., recovering against John ap Rees and Richard Barret, the right in question, and on 28 Nov., 1488, an order was issued that a fit person should be admitted to the living, to be approved of by Sir John Devereux. In accordance, presumably, with this order, Hugh Mason was admitted to the church on 18 Feb. following.

[7] Presented by John Devereux, Lord Ferrers.

[8] Presented by Lord Ferrers.—Valor Eccl.

[9] Presented by David Wogan of Poyston [Pems.], gent., under a grant from Walter, Viscount Hereford. Richard Wogan was probably the son of David Wogan by Katherine, his wife (the daughter of Thomas Herbert). David Wogan at one time lived at Westfield; he was the illegitimate son of Richard Wogan of Boulston. See Y Cymmrodor, Vol. XV., pp. 110, 111.

[10] Presented by Maurice Wogan, gent.—Liber Institut. Gabriel Buckley probably held Steynton.—See Vol. IV., p. 213.

[11] Presented by Robert, Earl of Essex.—Liber Institut.

[12] Presented by Robert, Earl of Essex.—Liber Institut. Edward Love was turned out of his living, on a charge of malignancy by the Commissioners for Propagation.—Walker's Suff. Clergy.

[13] Presented by Wyrriot Owen, Esq.

[14] Presented by Wyrriot Owen, Esq. It is probable that this Theophilus Rice was the vicar of Llandyssilio in 1691, whose will was proved at Carmarthen in 1721. He mentions in his will a son Theophilus Rice, but does not state that he was a clergyman.

[15] Presented by Sir Arthur Owen, Bart. See last note.

[16] He was probably the rector of Burton in 1780. See Vol. I., p. 257, Note 17.

[17] Presented by Sir William Owen. He was probably the rector of Freystrop in 1753. See Vol. I., p. 302, Note 15.

[18] Presented by Sir Hugh Owen. He was the son of Nicholas Roch of Paskeston, Pems., gent., and matriculated at Christ Church, Oxford, on 20 Nov., 1790, aged 18. He was rector of Tenby in 1811; he died on 10 Sept., 1830.—Alumn. Oxon.

[19] Presented by Sir John Owen of Orielton, Bart. William Rees was a minor canon of Carlisle Cathedral, and perpetual curate of St. Mary, Carlisle.—Report on Plural.

[20] Presented by himself. He also held Walton West.

[21] Presented by the trustees of the will of Rev. Ebenezer Flood Woodman; he also held Walton West.

[22] Presented by Charles Smith, No. 22, Great St. Helens, Crosby Square, London, gent., the trustee of the will of Rev. Ebenezer Flood Woodman; he also held Walton West.

[23] Presented by Charles Smith, No. 42 Cornhill, London, trustee of the will of Rev. Ebenezer Flood Woodman; he also held Walton West.

[24] Presented by Alexander William Woodman Dowding; he also held Walton West.

Templeton. St. John.

This is a perpetual curacy or district chapelry, to which a district was assigned out of the parish of Narberth by an Order in Council, dated 9 Jan., 1863. The patronage is vested in the Crown. Since 1863 the living has been held in plurality with Ludchurch.

[1] Presented by the Queen.

[2] Presented by the Queen. He is a younger brother of Col. W. Gwynne Hughes of Glancothy, Carms.

[3] Presented by the King.

Tenby. St. Mary.

The church of St. Mary, Tenby, formed part of the possessions of the abbey of St. Martin de Sèez in Normandy, and was probably included in the gift of St. Nicholas, Pembroke, made about 1098 by Arnulph de Montgomery to that abbey.—Church Book of St. Mary the Virgin, Tenby.

After the confiscation of the property of alien abbeys, priories, &c., in England and Wales, the priory of Pembroke, which [as a subordinate house of the abbey of Sèez] held the advowson of St. Mary, Tenby, was granted by the crown to Humphrey de Lancaster, Duke of Gloucester and Earl of Pembroke, who on 7 June, 1441, gave the same to the abbey of St. Albans.—Whethamstede, Vol. I., p. 46.

On the surrender on 5 Dec., 1539, of the abbey of St. Albans to the Crown, the advowson of St. Mary, Tenby, came into the hands of the King, who presumably granted it, or probably only the right of the next presentation, to William Gwynne, a priest and parson of St. Nicholas Cole Abbey (London), and he by his will, dated 26 Oct., 1540, and proved in London on 19 Mar., 1541, bequeathed the ' advowson of Tynby ' to his nephew William Rogers. —Alenger, fol. 17. At all events the advowson was again vested in the crown in 1547, as Chantry Certificate No. 75 states that the King was then ' parson ' of Tenby. —Church Plate of Pembrokeshire, p.128.

On 10 July 1656 the Commonwealth approved of the union of the parishes of Tenby and Gumfreston.—State Papers.

In 1291 this church was assessed for tenths to the King at £16 13s. 4d., the sum payable being £1 13s. 4d.—Taxatio.

On 18 Sept., 1711, licence was granted by Queen Anne, on the petition of the inhabitants of Tenby, for the consolidation of the rectory and vicarage of St. Mary, Tenby, into one rectory to be called the Rectory of the Parish Church of St. Mary, Tenby, the patronage of which was reserved to the Crown. On the death of Roger Lloyd, the last sinecure rector, John Howell was instituted in 1712 to the consolidated rectory.

On 11 Jan., 1871, a faculty was granted for the removal of the body of Lady Griffies Williams from St. Mary's Cemetery, Tenby, to the family vault in the churchyard of the parish of Mothvey, Carms.

On 21 Mar, 1882, a faculty was issued for the removal of the body of William Pearson Lambert from Tenby Churchyard to Chester Cemetery.

On 5 Oct, 1891, a faculty was granted for the erection of a chancel screen in the parish church.

On 19 Dec, 1898, a faculty was issued for the erection of a Holy Table in the north east aisle of the parish church.

[1] Giraldus Cambrensis, Dialogus de Jure et Statu Menevensis Ecclesiæ, in which an account is given of an attempt by Bishop Geoffrey to intrude a creature of his own into Gerald's living of Tenby, then in the gift of the prior of Monkton.

[2] In March, 1317, Walter Alexander obtained a provision from the Pope, on the request of Aymer de Valence, Earl of Pembroke, of a canonry of St. Davids, with reservation of a prebend, notwithstanding that he was rector of Wlwardenton [probably Wolverdington, co. Warwick], Saxthorpe [co. Norfolk], and 'Tenebie,' in the dioceses of Worcester, Norwich and St. Davids.—Papal Reg.

[3] On 6 Mar., 1347, the King granted to John de Seys, clerk of Guy de Bryane, the first void benefice in the King's gift by reason of the temporalities of the priory of Pembroke in Wales being in his hands on account of the war with France. On 13 Feb., 1349, John Seys was presented by the King to the church of St. Mary, Tenby, the living being in his gift on account of the war with France.—Pat. Rolls. John Seys was the illegitimate son of a married man, and on 22 July, 1342, he obtained a dispensation from the Pope to be ordained and hold a benefice, and on 18 Oct., 1349, he obtained from the pontiff a provision of a canonry and prebend of St. Davids, vacant by the consecration of Richard bishop of the same, and received dispensation to hold also the church of Schaldeflute in the Isle of Wight. He was in possession of this canonry by 17 July, 1350, as, described as 'Canon of St. Davids,' he secured on that date an indult to choose a confessor, to give him plenary remission at the hour of death.—Papal Reg. Apparently John Seys omitted to obtain a provision from the Pope, of the church of Tenby. This point was, however, not neglected by Thomas Melyn, a bachelor of civil law resident in the diocese of St. Davids, who, on 24 Dec., 1351, secured from the Pope a reservation of a benefice, value 25 marks, with cure of souls, in the gift of the prior and convent of Pembroke.—Papal Reg. Armed with this grant, Thomas Melyn proceeded to eject John Seys from the church of St. Mary, Tenby, and commenced a suit against him in the papal court. Presumably the decision, if a decision was arrived at, was, as might be expected, in favour of Thomas Melyn. At all events Thomas Melyn died at the Roman Court, and subsequently Guy de Bryene petitioned the Pope that whatever right Thomas Melyn had in the church of Tenby, should be transferred to John Seys, notwithstanding that the latter had canonries and prebends at St. Davids and Abergwyly, and the church of Hanney [Hanney East or Prior's Hanney, co. Berks.], in the diocese of Salisbury, which latter he was prepared to resign on obtaining Tenby. This petition was granted.—Papal Reg., Petitions, i., p. 257. On 8 Feb., 1355, the Pope issued a mandate to the Archbishop of York to give John Seys, or Ceys, a canonry of Llandewybrevy, and to reserve to him a prebend in the same.—Papal Reg.

[4] John Martin was rector of Tenby prior to 1375, as on 16 Nov., in that year he obtained from the Pope a confirmation of that living to him, of which he had previously obtained a provision, on its voidance, by the death of John Parchemin, at the Roman Court. John Martin, who was a papal chaplain, held also a canonry and prebend of Cloyne.—Papal Reg.

[5] On 31 Jan., 1380, the estate of Thomas de More as parson of the 'church of Tynbegh, in Wales,' was ratified by the King.—Pat. Rolls. On 10 Oct., 1388, a Thomas More [no doubt the same person] was granted the prebend of Llangemarugh [Llangammarch] in the collegiate church of Abergwili, and also the treasurership of the same church. On 5 Aug., 1391, he was presented to the church of Brunsted, in the diocese of Norwich, in the King's gift by reason of the lands of John, [de Hastings] Earl of Pembroke being in his hands.—Pat. Rolls. He was also Prebendary of Mathry.

[6] Nicholas Besaunt was presented by the King, by reason of the priory of Pembroke being in his hands on account of the war with France.—Pat. Rolls.

[7] Presented by the King. Thomas Picton was prebendary of Llandygwy in the collegiate church of Abergwili, and exchanged that prebend for Tenby, with Nicholas Besaunt. Thomas Picton was also rector or 'custos' [warden] of the free chapel of Hoggeston [Hodgeston], his estate in which was ratified on 19 Nov., 1381; he also held Manorbier, and the prebend of Huntingdon in Hereford Cathedral.—Pat. Rolls. In 1397 he was ejected from the rectorship of Tenby and the free chapel of Hoggeston, by William Skyll, clerk, and a commission was issued to the chancellor of St. Davids diocese, to hear the appeal, which was evidently decided in favour of Thomas Picton.—Epis. Reg. Thomas Picton was also prebendary of Clydey. In Feb. 1397, he was granted an indult by the Pope to have a portable altar, and on 31 Dec., 1401, he, described as 'rector of Tenby,' obtained an indult for non-residence for life, (from the Pope,) while engaged in the study of literature at an university, or residing at the Roman Court, or one of his benefices, and to farm out to clerks or laymen, the fruits of his benefice.—Papal Reg.

[8] Presented by the King, on 16 Oct., 1403.—Pat. Rolls. Described as 'rector of Tynby,' John Brockhall on 8 July, 1405, obtained an indult from the Pope, to have a portable altar. On 28 Mar., 1432, he received from the Pope a prolongation, by five years, of the two years dispensation he had lately been granted to hold another benefice. He was a Master in Chancery of Henry VI., King of England, and, in addition to Tenby, he held canonries and prebends of York, Wells and Abergwili, the total value not exceeding 110 marks.—Papal Reg.

[9] Inscription at St. Mary, Tenby.—See Church Book of St. Mary, Tenby, p. 108.

[10] Presented by the abbot of St. Albans, in right of the priory of St. Nicholas of Monkton, Pembroke.—Whethamstede, Vol. II., p. 8. The same authority states that John Smyth was archdeacon of St. Davids. Archdeacon Yardley, in his MS., entitled Menevia Sacra, suggests that John Smyth is the same person as John Denby, and that the latter surname was suggested by his having been rector of Tenby, which may account for his name [John Smyth] not appearing, as archdeacon of St. Davids, in the list in Hist. St. Dav.

[11] Presented by the Bishop. John Hunden was Bishop of Llandaff, and exchanged that see with John Smyth for the living of Tenby.—Whethamstede, Vol. II., p. 123. On 28 Sept., 1476, a mandate was issued to the escheator of Herefordshire, and of the marches of Wales to restore the temporalities of the see of Llandaff to Master John Smyth, Prof. Theol., whom Pope Sextus had appointed to be bishop on the cession of John Hunden, Smyth having renounced all words prejudicial to the King in the papal bull.—Pat. Rolls. John Hunden was archdeacon of St. Davids, and also held the prebend of Treflodan.

[12] Richard Langshawe was chaplain to the abbot of St. Albans, and was presented by him to Tenby.—Whethamstede, Vol.. II., p. 267.

[15] On 19 Oct., 1585, information was preferred by Mr. Engilbert against 'John Bowen, parson of Tenby,' for negligence in arresting Richard Benson, and for giving him information, enabling him to escape, and for 'using speeches not decent against the Lord Treasurer.' —State Papers..

[17] Presented by the King.—Liber Institut. Rice Middleton was archdeacon of Cardigan.

[18] Presented by the King.—Liber Institut. John Roch was B.A. from All Souls College, Oxford, on 13 July, 1619. He was rector of Butleigh, Somerset, in 1642. His son John Roch, rector of Tenby in 1624, matriculated at Christ Church, Oxford, on 22 Aug., 1661, aged 19; he was rector of WestBagborough, Somerset, in 1672.—Alumn. Oxon. John Roch, senior, appears to have been temporarily expelled from his rectory of St. Mary, Tenby, as in the Survey of Tenby, dated 10 Feb., 1654, [among the Tenby Corporation papers], is this entry,

'Edward Carner, preacher of God's Word, for ten acres of land, a house and garden, at £10 per annum,' which Mr. Laws believes to have been the rectory. Carner was probably a covenanting minister.—Church Book of St. Mary, Tenby, p. 30. On 27 Apr., 1663, 'John Roane' [no doubt 'John Roch, senior'] petitioned the King for a presentation to the rectory and vicarage of Tenby, the value not exceeding £70 per annum, and added, that the living being a post town, it was much tainted with faction, having been a sinecure.—State Papers. John Roch, senior, resigned the benefice prior to March, 1670, as his son John Roch, junior, petitioned the King on 29 March in that year for a presentation to the rectory of Tenby, on the ground that his father had been a great sufferer for his loyalty.—State Papers.

[19] Presented by the King.—Liber Institut. Roger Lloyd also held St. Mary, Haverfordwest.—Visitation Book. He died on 29 April 1711.—MS., Gough's Wales, No. 6., Bodleian Library. He was also rector of Burton and Lawrenny. See Vol. I., p. 257., Note 14. He was the last sinecure rector of St. Mary, Tenby.

[20] Presented by the Crown.

[21] Presented by the Crown. John Holcombe also held Gumfreston. He was the son of William Holcombe of Brownslade, Pems. He died on 23 July, 1770, in his 67th year.—Inscrip. in Tenby Church.

[22] Presented by the Crown.—Diocese Book.

[23] Presented by the King.

[24] Presented by the King. Nicholas Roch was the eldest son of Nicholas Roch of West Paskeston, Pems. See p. 217 Note 18.

[25] Presented by the Crown. He also held Lawrenny.

[26] Presented by the Crown. Rev. George Clark was afterwards archdeacon of St. Davids.

[1] Presented to the 'parish church of Tyneby.'—Pat. Rolls.

[2] Presented by Richard Langshawe, the rector.

[3] Presented by the King.—Pat. Rolls. This presentation was probably due to the vacancy of the rectorship owing to the death of Thomas Picton.

[4] On 16 Feb., 1407, the Bishop issued a commission to Master John [Brockhall], rector of Tenby, and Master Rice, vicar of Tenby, to admonish William Whytlock, prior of Llawhaden, for his dissolute life. The surname of the vicar of Tenby is not given in the Episcopal Register, but there is little doubt that he was Richard Warren, vicar of Tenby, who was a party to a deed dated 17 Hen. VI. [1438–9], mentioned in a MS. (of Sir Thomas Phillipps of Middle Hill), containing notes of deeds at Picton Castle.

[5] John ap Rees was presented by Richard Langshawe, the rector.

[6] Described as 'Robert Colyns' he was also warden of the chapel of St. John the Baptist, Tenby.—Val. Eccl. Robert Collins, vicar of Tenby, was witness to the will, dated 25 Jan., 1553, of William Barrett of Tenby, gent. 'Robert Colyns' apparently sided with Henry VIII. against Anne Boleyn, and, as a result of injudicious remarks, got into trouble. It appears from a letter written by Colyns to Master Leche on 22 June, 1536, that he had been and apparently was then imprisoned in the castle of Llawhaden by Barlow, dean of Westbury, on the charge above mentioned, and was likely to lie there all his life, Barlow having always belonged to the Queen, and had his promotion by her. 'That when he was in London, to appear before the Council, he was suspended by Barlow at Tynby for that, of which he had been assoiled by the dean of the Arches; was summoned on an unlawful day by Barlow, who put him in trouble, called for the books belonging to the church to see whether the Pope's name was struck out of them, but found all cancelled with pen and ink, which he declared was not sufficient, because they were not wholly blotted out, or defaced, as he called it, save only the book of the high altar, which belonged to the writer. Though the other books belonged to other altars and chaplains of the said church, Barlow ascribed the whole fault to the writer, and charging him with misprision, committed him to the castle of Llawhaden.' Colyns states that he had written to the Secretary to enquire whether 'his case is to be ordered by Barlow,' or whether he is to be sent up as a prisoner, and begs Leche to bring influence to bear on the Secretary, as he dreads the former alternative. He also asks to be released on giving surety for his appearance, and adds that he doubts not that the whole town of Tynby will testify that he has always spoken against the usurpation of the Bishop of Rome and set forth the Supremacy.—State Papers. Barlow, dean of Westbury, was afterwards bishop of St. Davids.

[7] Presented by the Bishop.

[8] By the will of William Rogers of Tenby, merchant, dated 11 Sept., 1611, and proved at Carmarthen on 27 Oct., 1619, 'Mr. Milner, minister of the church of Tenby' is given a bequest of 3s. 4d.

[9] Presented by the Crown.—Liber Institut.

[10] John Owen received licence from the Bishop to perform all duties pertaining to the office of a curate and deacon in the church of Tenby and 'Caldee.' He was apparently not vicar.

[11] It is not certain that George Griffiths was vicar. His nuncupative will, dated 2 Dec., 1653, describes him as of 'Tenby, clerk.'

[12] John Roch, junior, was probably vicar under his father the rector.

[13] The Tenby Corporation Papers contain the following entry in 1670: 'For Mr. Robinson's welcome to towne, 1s. 6d.' Administration of his effects was granted at Carmarthen, on 25 Feb., 1684, to his widow Margaret.

[14] In 1686, William James, minister of the parish and parish church of St. Mary, Tenby, gave a communion certificate to Humphrey Ray.—Church Book of St. Mary, Tenby, p. 35.

Trefgarn.

The rectory of Trefgarn seems to have always been in private patronage. In 1594 it was appendant to the manor of Trefgarn, then owned by the Newport family [of High Ercall, Salop].—Owen's Pem.

Upton.

This benefice is a Chapelry subordinate to Nash Rectory, and from the earliest recorded institution the rector of Nash has also held Upton or Ucton.

George Owen in his list of benefices compiled in 1594, states that it was a rectory appendant to the manor of Upton, the patron then being Harry Bowen [of Upton].

In a case submitted for Counsel's opinion on 23 Oct., 1722, in regard to the liability of the owner of Upton to the payment of tithes on the demesne lands of Upton, it was stated that the benefice was a chapel, and had no manner of parochial officers belonging to it, and was supposed to be a chapel of ease belonging to Nash, a view which was corroborated by the fact that there was but one presentation and institution to both livings. The document adds that there is a tradition that during the celibacy of the clergy, the rector [of Nash] always lived at Upton with the patron, and had his diet there, and that there were then four instances within memory where the rector while he was unmarried had his diet in the house, whereof the then present incumbent was one. —Llwynwormwood Papers.

For list of incumbents see under Nash.

Uzmaston. St. David.

Described as 'Ecclesia ville Osmundi,' Uzmaston was one of the churches granted by Wizo, the Fleming, Walter his son, and Walter the grandson of Wizo, to the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem at Slebech.—Anselm's Confirm. Charter. In Sept., 1301, the preceptor of Slebech gave the advowson of Uzmaston to the precentor and chapter of St. Davids, for the maintenance of the fabric of the cathedral of St. Davids, and in March, 1302, this grant was confirmed by Bishop David Martin.—Stat. Menev.

It will be seen from the extract given below, that Bacon's Liber Regis attributes the dedication of the church to St. Ishmael, but it is evident that this must be a mistake, or else a subsequent dedication, as it is recorded in the Stat. Menev. that in the reign of Edw. I, Geoffrey, son of Robert, 'dominus de villa Osmundi,' granted, for the good of his soul, to the church of 'St. David de villa Osmundi' and to Master Walter de Greswent [probably a mistake of the scribe for 'Trefwent'], the rector of the said church and his successors, a messuage, garden, and an acre of land adjoining the road leading from Uzmaston to Wiston.

At the time of the grant in 1302 referred to above, the rectorship of Uzmaston was stated to be vacant owing to the resignation of 'Master Walter de Trefwent, the late rector.—Stat. Menev. This is the only record of an individual rector of the church.

Described as Ecclesia Ville Osemundi, this church was in 1291 assessed at £4 for tenths to the King, the sum payable being 8s.—Taxatio.

Osmundeston.—Ecclesia de Osmundeston non re hic quod inter ecclesias vicariorum choralium Meneven.' —Valor Eccl.

Under the heading 'Not in Charge':—Uzmaston alias Osmundeston Cur. (St. Ishmael). Chapter of St. Davids Patr. £5 10s. 0d. certified value.—Bacon's Liber Regis.

In 1554 the tithes of Uzmaston were leased to William Philipps of Picton, Pems., Esq., for 40 years at the annual rent of £5 6s. 8d., the tenant to supply a curate to serve the church. This lease was renewed to the same lessee, and on the same terms in July, 1565. In July, 1600, John Philipps of Picton, Esq., obtained a lease at the same rent for the lives of himself, his wife Anne, and his eldest son, Richard Philipps, and in 1661 Sir Erasmus Philipps, Bart., was granted a lease for 21 years at the same rent. In 1682 George Lucy, gent., was given a lease for 21 years, which was renewed in July, 1690, to the same lessee. This lease seems to have descended, on the death of George Lucy, the tenant, to his wife Elizabeth, as in the Chapter Records there is a memorandum that a lease of the tithes for 16 years should be given to her. This intention, however, was never carried out, as on 24 July, 1706, a lease of the rectory of Uzmaston for 21 years was granted to Richard Sparks, gent., Elizabeth Lucy, the tenant, consenting through her son George Lucy, gent.

In 1715 and again in 1734 the lease was renewed by Richard Sparks, who was an alderman of Haverfordwest, and died prior to 7 Mar., 1736–7, the rent on the latter occasion being advanced to £15 6s. 8d., and the curate's stipend being fixed at £10.

In 1741 a lease of the tithes was granted for 21 years to Sparks Martin of Withy Bush, Pems., gent., and John Barron, of Haverfordwest, M.D., at the rent of £15 6s. 8d., and a fine of £20, and in 1748 and 1756 the lease was renewed to the same lessees at the same rent as before, the fines paid being respectively £20 and £24. In 1763 the tithes were leased for 21 years at the same rent to Sparks Martin, Esq., and David Hughes, gent., the assignee of John Barron, M.D., the fine paid being 20 guineas.

In 1781 the Chapter decided that the next lease should be at rack rent without any fine, and in pursuance of this resolution, the tithes were leased for 21 years to Canon William Holcombe, at a rent of £66. In 1806 the tithes were rented by auction, and John Phelps of Withy Bush being the highest bidder, a lease for 21 years was granted to him at the rent of £135. In 1827 the tithes were rented to Sparks Martin Phelps, Esq., for 21 years at the rent of £120.

The present church of Uzmaston must have been restored or rather re-built about the year 1870, as an Act of the Chapter on 25 July in that year orders the chapter seal to be affixed to the deed authorising the re-building of the church.

On 20 Dec., 1907, a faculty was granted for putting up a window in the parish church in memory of Mr. George Bland and Mrs. Anne Bland.

Walton East. St. Peter.

There seems little doubt that Walton East is the church described as 'Ecclesia Sancti Petri de Waletuna' in Dungleddy, which Wizo, lord of Wiston, and Walter his son, and Walter the son of the said Walter, granted to the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem.—Bishop Anselm's Confirmatory Charter. This being so it would indicate that there has either been a change in the dedication, or else that it is erroneously attributed to St. Mary in Bacon's Liber Regis. In 1594 the benefice was described as a Curacy, and in the hands of the Queen as late belonging to the preceptor [of Slebech].—Owen's Pem.

The only reference to this benefice in the Valor Eccl.

is in the list of churches appropriated to the preceptory of Slebeche, in which appears the following entry :— Ecclesia de Walton xj^{li}.

Under the heading ' Not in Charge ':—Walton East Cur. (St. Mary). James Philipps, Esq. £10 certified value.—Bacon's Liber Regis.

Walton West.

The rectory of Walton West appears to have been in private patronage at all events since 1536. It seems to have belonged to Henry Catharne and others at that date, but in 1594 the patrons are said to be the families of Newport, Stepneth [Stepney], Woodford, Ketter [Kettill] and Longvill in right of Catharn.—Owen's Pem. These were probably all representatives of Henry Catharne; in fact Stepney, Woodford, and Kettill are no doubt the Alban Stepney, Thomas Woodford, and William Kettill, who married three of the coheiresses of Thomas Catharne, the son of the Henry Catharne in question.

Walwynscastle. St. James.

The rectory of Walwynscastle was in 1594 appendant to the manor of that name.—Owen's Pem. The barony or lordship of Walwynscastle was held by several important personages including the Earls of Pembroke, Guy de Brian, in 1350, James, Earl of Wiltshire, and Sir William Herbert, Earl of Pembroke, in 1483.—Pat. Rolls. By 1519 the lordship or manor of Walwynscastle, with the advowson of the church there, had become the property of Sir Owen Perrot, of Eastington, in the parish of Rhoscrowther, who, on 15 Sept., in that year, settled the advowson and other property on himself and his heir.—Inq. P.M. of Owen Perrot, 14 Hen. VIII.

[1] Walter de Pederton was successively rector of Sweynesieye [Swansea], Lannethelly [Llanelly], Tallachorne [Laugharne], Castle Walwan [Walwyn's Castle], Burton, Huscard [Hasguard], and South Molton, in the dioceses of St. Davids and Exeter, of the value of £93 6s. 8d., which, not being a priest, he held without dispensation. On 17 Feb., 1311, he obtained the necessary permission (on condition of his resigning two of the livings) to hold the other benefices, and also the canonries and prebends he had in Wells, St. Davids, Abergwili and Llanddewibrevi.—Papal Reg.

[2] On 20 May, 1393, John Robtot obtained a ratification of his estate as parson of St. James, Walwinscastle.—Pat. Rolls.

[3] On 6 Feb., 1396, John Donne obtained ratification of his estate as parson of St. James, Walwinscastle.—Pat. Rolls. On 12 Nov., 1397, he had licence for non-residence for one year.

[4] John David was a deacon and was presented by Jasper, Duke of Bedford and Earl of Pembroke. On 26 Mar., 1493, he was granted licence for non-residence for one year.

[5] Presented by John Parratt [Perrot], or by the Crown during the minority of the said John Perrot.—Valor Eccl.

[6] Rice Powell was a student of Christ Church, Oxford, in 1567, and rector of Cilgerran in 1580.—Alumn. Oxon.

[7] Presented by the Crown.—Liber Institut.

[8] Presented by the Crown.—Liber Institut. He was rector of Newport. See Vol. III., p. 223.

[9] Thomas Griffiths, described as rector of Walwyn's Castle, was witness to an indenture dated 30 May, 1650, executed by Thomas Maddock of Prendergast. He was the nephew of Alice ap Rice of Ramsey Island, Pems., who by her will, dated 14 Mar., 1667, and proved at Carmarthen, received a bequest of all the goods in her house. Administration of his effects was granted at Carmarthen in 1678; in the administration bond, dated 27 Mar., 1678, he is described as 'late rector of Walwyn's Castle.'

[10] The will of William Ormond, dated 3 April, 1665, and proved at Carmarthen on 2 May, in the same year, describes him as rector of Walwyn's Castle, and states that he was 84 years of age on 11 Nov., 1664. Compare with last note. Possibly Thomas Griffiths was ejected temporarily from the rectory.

[11] Presented by the Prince of Wales.—Liber Institut. He was instituted on 18 Feb., 1678.—Visitation Book. The will of William Williams was proved at Carmarthen on 13 Dec., 1722. He was also vicar of Marloes, as is shown by a suit in the Great Sessions in 1691, brought by him against William Saunders for 'calling him scandalous words,' namely, 'The Priest of Walwinscastle, a popish rogue,' etc.

[12] Presented by the Crown. Owen Phillips was the son of Owen Phillips (the ancestor of the Lort Philipps of Williamston and Lawrenny) by Elinor Harries of Porthiddy, Pems., his wife, and married in 1723 Jennet, the daughter of Thomas Bowen of Williamston, Pems.

[13] There is no entry of this institution in the Episcopal Act Book, but it appears from the Diocese Book for 1715, that John Philipps succeeded Owen Phillips.

[14] Presented by the Prince of Wales. F. H. Neve was vicar of Llansaintffraed-yn-mechan, Montg., sinecure rector of Angle, and vicar of Southill, Beds.—Report on Plural.

[15] Presented by the Lord Chancellor.

[16] Presented by the Lord Chancellor. He also held Robeston West.

Warren. St. Mary.

There appears to be no very early mention of this church, which seems to have always been in the patronage of the Bishop of St. Davids.

[11] Presented by the dean and chapter; he is now chancellor of St. David's Cathedral.

Whitchurch in Dewisland.

The vicarage of Whitchurch appears to have belonged to the chapter of St. Davids Cathedral as far back, at all events, as the year 1402, and has remained in the patronage of the chapter down to the present date.

Described as Ecclesia Albi Monasterii, this church was in 1291 assessed at £6 13s. 4d. for tenths for the King, the sum payable being 13s. 4d.—Taxatio.

yearly value £20. King's Books, £5 15s. 7½d.—Bacon's Liber Regis.

There is very little on record about the church. It appears from a report of the case of Meyler v. Bright which was tried at Hereford in 1829, that the roof of the church had some years previously fallen in, and had also been repaired before that date, and that a stone seat ran round the sides of the aisles.—Felix Farley's Bristol Journal for 29 Aug., 1829.

The rectorial tithes of Whitchurch have from the year 1711 been included in the lease of the St. Davids tithes. See Vol. III., p. 277.

The vicarage of Whitchurch was united to the rectory of St. Elvis by an Order in Council dated 15 Jan., 1842.

All presentations to the vicarage of Whitchurch, unless otherwise stated in the notes, were made by the precentor and chapter of St. Davids Cathedral.

Williamston East.

This church has been a chapelry annexed to Begelly ever since the year 1291. See under Begelly, Vol. I., p. 241.

For list of incumbents see under Begelly.

Wiston. St. Mary.

Described as 'Ecclesia Sanctæ Mariæ de Castro Wiz,' this church was granted by Wizo, lord of Wiston, his son Walter, and Walter the son of the said Walter, to the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem.—Anselm's Confirm. Charter. On the dissolution of the preceptory of Slebech, the advowson came into the hands of the Crown, and subsequently it appears to have been acquired by the Wogans of Wiston.

About the time of the Restoration, a belief seems to have existed that the advowson was owned by Thomas Wogan of Wiston, the Regicide, as a warrant was issued on 15 Sept., 1662, for a grant to the bishops of London and Winchester, Sir Robert Hyde and Dr. William Thomas, of the rectory, tithes, &c., of Wiston, co. Pembroke, 'lately belonging to Thomas Wogan, attainted of high treason, in trust for the maintenance of a minister there, if requisite, or of ministers in and about London or elsewhere.'—State Papers. Presumably this grant was never proceeded with, as the same records state that in May 1663 a grant was made to Col. Robert Werden and Charles Parker, of the estate, manor, and rectory of Wiston, and barony of Dungleddy, co. Pembroke, forfeited by the attainder of Thomas Wogan. If Thomas Wogan did own the property it seems most probable that the latter grant took effect, and that the purchase by Werden and Parker was made either on behalf of the Wogan family or else that the Wogans acquired the interest of the grantees therein.

It seems however much more likely that Thomas Wogan did not own either the Wiston estate or the advowson of the church, because although Thomas Wogan was evidently alive in 1664—a proclamation having been issued on 27 July in that year (State Papers) for his apprehension, he, having with others escaped from the Tower of London—we find that his nephew Henry Wogan by his will dated 7 Feb., 1662, and proved in London on 9 Feb., 1662, devised all his lands in Wiston, with all rents and tithes belonging to the rectory thereof, to his wife and his mother Dyana Lynde for their lives, with remainder to his uncle Rowland Wogan.—Laud, fol. 30.

In any event the advowson continued in the hands of the Wogans of Wiston until 15 Feb., 1794, when Elinor (wife of Thomas Roberts of Haverfordwest) and Susan Wogan (the two coheiresses of John Wogan of Wiston, the last male of his line) entered into an agreement for the sale of the rectory and estate of Wiston, to John Campbell of Stackpole Court, Pems., Esq., whose descendants still own the advowson and estate.

This benefice is thus mentioned under the heading 'Churches appropriated to the Preceptory of Slebeche' in the Valor Eccl:—Ecclesia de Wiston xvij[li].

Under the heading 'Not in Charge':—Wiston alias Wyston Curacy (St. Mary). £9 certified value.—Bacon's Liber Regis.

By FRANCIS GREEN.

St. Davids Cathedral.

The history of the foundation of the cathedral and bishoprick of St. Davids is extremely nebulous, and there is now no evidence available that enables one to determine satisfactorily even the site of the first cathedral. The first religious establishment in the vicinity of the present cathedral city would appear to have been founded by St. Patrick, who, according to the Vita Sancti Davidis, written by Ricemarchus (bishop of St. Davids, 1088–96), came to Vallis Rosina in Menevia some thirty years before the birth of St. David, and the same authority mentions a monastery called Maucan or Mancan, which the authors of Lives of British Saints indentify as being at Tygwyn, near White Sands or Porthmawr, on the south-west side of Carn Llidi near St. Davids. However this may have been, it seems pretty certain that a religious establishment was at an early time in existence at Tygwyn, as graves were found some 66 years ago in the garden and also in the farm-yard at that place. Mr. David Evans, the present owner of Tygwyn, informed in 1912 the writer of this article, that he recollected when a boy seeing some of these graves; they were lined by slate stones set on edge and covered with a slate flag; in one of these graves he found a human skull, which fell to pieces when he attempted to scrape the earth out of it; beyond this skull no other remains were found in this grave.

It is quite possible that this religious house may have been founded by St. Patrick, and afterwards presided over by Paulinus; at all events a little field abutting on the seashore, and lying on the north-western side of the road leading to White Sands from St. Davids, is called Park-y-Capel, and in it are still to be seen traces of the foundations of an ancient chapel, which is said to have been dedicated to St. Patrick. If the indentification of the site of Tygwyn by the writers of Lives of British Saints be correct, and there is a good deal to be said in favour of it as compared with Tygwyn ar Daf in Carmarthenshire, which earlier authorities have assigned as the site, it was here that St. David received his early education, and afterwards returned to be abbot or head of the house at Tygwyn.

Whether St. David built a cathedral church at White Sands, as distinct from the monastery at Tygwyn, is a question which is so far incapable of actual proof, but if traditions are to be credited, it would appear that he did so, and indeed there is documentary and other evidence very suggestive of this belief. In the first place, the portion of the burrows abutting on White Sands, and lying on the south side of the road from St. Davids to White Sands, was (so Mr. David Evans, the present owner of Tygwyn, says), formerly known as Park yr Hen Eglwys, and the authors of the Hist. St. Dav, state that on the burrows were some old remains of uncertain date and use bearing the popular name of ' The Old Church,' and go on to describe some vestiges then existing of an old building, but unfortunately do not sufficiently indicate their position to enable it to be now indentified.

The writers of Lives of British Saints (Vol., II, p. 288), express the view that the 'Old Church,' was situated about three miles east of New Castle Emlyn, but in view of the tradition mentioned above, it seems much more probable that the ' Old Church,' was either at Tygwyn or in Park yr Hen Eglwys, and having regard to the propensity of St. David for founding churches and the fact that tradition says that he subsequently removed that cathedral establishment to its present locality, it is not improbable that on assuming the abbotship of the monastery of Mancan, he erected a new church in Park yr Hen Eglwys, and may even have transplanted the monastery itself to that position.

Corroboration of the opinion that the 'Old Church' was not situated near New Castle Emlyn is to be found in a recital of a statute of Bishop Gervase (contained in a statute of Bishop Thomas Beck, dated 1287), which states that Bishop Gervase, in order that the obituaries of all the bishops of St. Davids from the time of Bishop Peter [de Leia] and before him should be celebrated on the proper dates, assigned to the canons and vicars choral the revenues of the 'Old Church of St. Davids,' to be divided between the canons resident and the vicars choral, one third of the revenue being reserved to the vicar of the said church (i. e., the 'Old Church'), while the presentation to that benefice was retained by the bishop. It will be observed that Bishop Gervase's statute expressly states that the church assigned was the 'Old Church of St. Davids,' and the adjective in the Latin is 'Menevensem,' thus indicating locality and not personality, whereas, if it had been intended to imply that the church was merely dedicated to St. David, the bishop would undoubtedly have used the words Ecclesiam Sancti Davidis.

According to ancient tradition, the cathedral and monastic establishment were removed to the site of the present cathedral by St. David. It was certainly in its present situation before the death of Bishop Peter de Leia about the year 1203. It is also obvious that the 'Old Church,' was not only then in existence, but actually being used for divine service in the time of Bishop Gervase, and possibly in that of Bishop Beck, as he and the chapter confirmed the recited statute before quoted. The cathedral having been largely, if not entirely, rebuilt by Bishop

Peter de Leia, it can scarcely be supposed that it would be styled the 'Old Church,' and it is also very unlikely that Bishop Gervase would have granted the whole of the revenues of the existing cathedral to the canons. vicars choral, and the vicar that served the cathedral, Moreover, there is no tradition or vestige of a cathedral having stood on any other site in or close to the present city of St. Davids, and one is therefore forced to the conclusion that the 'Old Church' must have been situated either in Park yr Hen Eglwys, or at Tygwyn. For further interesting information in regard to the religious foundation at Tygwyn, the reader should refer to Lives of British Saints, Vol. II., p. 292, and Notes on the Monastery of Rosnat, by Mrs. Dawson, which appeared in the Arch. Camb., for 1898, Ser. V., Vol. xv., p. 1. In her article Mrs. Dawson identifies Tygwyn as being 'Capella Albi Monastii,' valued at £6 13s. 4d. in the Taxatio; others however, with whom the writer agrees, consider that the entry in the Taxatio refers to Whitchurch in Dewisland.

The bishop was lord of Pebydiauck [Dewisland] and there seems little doubt that before the Norman Conquest, he actually owned the whole of that lordship, which corresponds with the present hundred of Dewisland: he also appears to have owned large estates in South Pembrokeshire, including Llawhaden and Lamphey. The actual extent of the bishop's landed property before the Norman Invasion is unknown, but it was obviously much larger than that described in the Black Book of St. Davids, as it is stated that Bishop Griffith, who died in 1115, alienated many lands belonging to his church, including Llanrian, Leureni [Lawrenny], and Uccetuna [Upton], owing in some cases to fear, which suggests that some of the alienations were made to the Normans as bribes to respect other rights of the bishop.—Girald. Camb. Dialogus de Jur. et Stat.

There were other bishops who were depreciators of the episcopal estates, notably, Bishop Barlow, who on 14, Aug., 1546, conveyed the rich manor of Lamphey to King Hen. VIII, and also dilapidated the noble episcopal palace at St. Davids, by stripping it of its leaden roof.

The earliest extant list of the property of the bishop was made in 1326, but as this M.S., which gives a detailed account of the estates, has, together with a translation thereof, been printed and published under the title of The Black Book of St. Davids, by the Hon. Cymmrodorion Society, and is consequently easily accessible to the reader, it has been considered unneccessary to refer more particularly to it here.

In 1535–6 a valuation of the bishop's property was made by command of King Henry VIII., and recorded in the Valor Eccl., of which the following is a brief summary :—

The totals given in the printed Rolls Edition of the Valor do not agree with the items given in it, but correspond with the grand total of the temporalities and spiritualities, which amounted to £491 18s. 2¾d. It is probable, therefore, that some of the items have been misprinted.

Out of this revenue there were yearly salaries, &c., amounting to £34 12s. 4d., paid to the following officials: Henry, Earl of Worcester, chief steward of all the lands of the bishop, £13 6s. 8d.; Sir Walter Devereux, Knt., Lord of Ferrers, constable of the lordships of Dyffryn Towy and Dyffryn Teifi, £6 13s. 4d.; Henry Catharn, Esq., constable of Dewisland, auditor of all the bishop's manors, &c., recorder of all the sessions, courts, and Hundred [Courts] of the lordships of Llawhaden and Dewisland, £9 10s. 8d.; Thomas ap Rhys, Esq., attorney of the bishop at Llawhaden and elsewhere, [blank]. Thomas Havard, steward of the manor of Llandew, 20s.; Rees ap Rhydderch, bailiff of Lamphey, £1 1s. 8d.; Owen Lloyd, bailiff of Llawhaden, 20s.; Owen Philip, bailiff of Dewisland, 40s. The clear annual income of the bishop is stated to have been £457 1s. 10¾d. and the tithes on it amounted to £45 14s. 2½d.

On 15 May, 1852, an Order in Council was issued, approving the transference of the following parishes, districts and places, from the diocese of St. Davids to the diocese of Hereford :—Clodock, Crasswall, Dulas, Ewyas Harold, Lanvillo, Llanveyno, Langtown, Michael Church, Eskley, Newton, Rowlstone, St. Margarets, and Walterstone. This Order was gazetted on 21 May, 1852.

There is no early record showing the date or origin of the constitution of the ancient church of St. Davids, but there seems little doubt that it was monastic in its character, and that the abbot afterwards assumed the title of bishop, although in early Celtic days an abbot ranked higher than a bishop. History also leaves us in the dark as to the date of the incorporation of the upper chapter of the cathedral. Unfortunately, the original statutes of St. Davids Cathedral are missing, copies only of these archives are in the cathedral library, and apparently these copies only contain those statutes which were deemed important, as apart from a grant made by Bishop Bernard, who occupied the see from from 1115 till 1147, there is no statute of any other early bishop, until the period of Bishop Iorwerth, about the year 1215.

Whether the upper chapter was incorporated in the episcopate of Bishop Bernard is not clear. The grant above referred to states that the gift was made with the assent of 'our church and our faithful people,' but a statute of Bishop Iorwerth distinctly states that the ordinance was made by the 'bishop and chapter of his church'; it therefore seems certain that the chapter must have been incorporated, if not by Bishop Bernard, at all events between his era and that of Bishop Iorwerth.

The bishop originally, and until he was supplanted by the precentor, was the head of the chapter, but increasing business led Bishop Iorwerth to establish a precentor to act as his deputy, and gradually the latter usurped, so far as the cathedral was concerned, the position of his principal, and since that time the precentor has continued to hold the premier position in the chapter.

According to Angl. Sacr. pp. 534–5, Bishop Bernard was the founder of the canonries in St. Davids Cathedral, and it would appear that at that period canonries and prebends were practically synonimous terms. The endowments of these canonries appear to have consisted of the tithes of the parishes of St. Davids and Whitchurch. Prior to 1358 the parish of St. Davids had been divided into four cylchs (circles), namely, Cylch Mawr, the tithes of which formed the stipends for five canonries, Cylch of the city of St. Davids (now known as Cylch y Dre), which supported six canons, and Cylch between the city of St. Davids and the sea (now known as Cylch Gwaelod y Mor), which supported six canons, while the tithes of the Cylch of Whitchurch supported five canons, but in the year referred to, Bishop Falstolfe ordained that the boundaries of the divisions of these cylchs should be set down, and that one share should be assigned yearly by lot to each canon.

Archdeacons were in existence prior to the episcopate of Bishop Bernard, and these dignitaries were probably appointed by the bishop at an early date.

There is no record of the original number of the canons, but it would appear from the words of Giraldus Cambrensis, that at the close of the 12th century eight canons formed an absolute majority of the chapter, and Jones and Freeman express the view that the whole number, exclusive of the bishop, cannot have exceeded fifteen. The Taxatio shows that in 1291 the number of prebends was 22 so that 6 canonries must have been created in the interim, and this number has been continued until the present day. Each of these canons had his particular endowment, either in tithes or lands, and apparently had a right to a seat in the chapter, but at the Reformation they were divided into residents and non-residents, the former class, which had by custom become limited to 6 canons, receiving the common revenues of the corporation and retaining all the powers in the chapter, while the larger body of non-residentiaries, who became known as prebendaries, received no emoluments but those of their several stalls.

In the 19th century a considerable change was effected in the constitution of the cathedral body. By the Act of 3 and 4 Vic., it was enacted that the chapter should thenceforth consist of the precentor (who was given the title of dean), and two canons, but by the Welsh Cathedral Act (6 and 7 Vic.), it was decreed that there should be 4 resident canons in the direct patronage of the bishop, two of whom were to be archdeacons of the diocese. Under this alteration, which came into force either voluntarily on the part of the existing holders of the different stalls, or compulsorily on their deaths, the property of the different canons became vested in the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, who were to pay the dean an income of £700 per annum, and £350 to each of the canons. The Very Rev. Llewelyn Llewellin, who was installed precentor in 1840, was the first to assume the title of dean. As a result of the Act, the prebendaries were deprived of all their emoluments, and their offices are now purely honorary. One of the unique features in connection with St. Davids Cathedral is that the king is a prebendary of the cathedral, and is the holder of the First Cursal Stall.

The foundation of the office of treasurer is ascribed to Bishop Thomas Wallensis, but it is probable that no permanent appointment was made to this stall until 1287, when the treasurership was permanently endowed by Bishop Beck, who also founded the chancellorship.

The date of the incorporation of the lower chapter of the cathedral is also unknown. It is clear that vicars choral were attached to the cathedral in very early times, and that each canon or prebendary had a vicar choral as his deputy. This system prevailed until as late as 1611, as is shown by entries in the Chapter Acts in that year. Curious sidelights are thrown by the Chapter Acts on the irregular and even scandalous conduct of some of the vicars choral in the latter half of the 16th century. Many of them appear to have been very uneducated men, and as a result there are several entries in the Chapter Acts, ordering them to attend the cathedral school. One vicar was charged with keeping a tavern, while another was admonished for playing cards in his house, and for 'extraordinary drinkinge and spendinge.' The Act which dealt with the canons endowments, also took away those of the lower chapter, and provided that the number of vicars should not be more than six, nor fewer than two. They were to be appointed by the upper chapter, and their stipend was not to be less than £150 each.

In the list of vicars choral, given later on, the writer at first attempted to arrange each vicar under the stall of his principal, but owing to the lax system in which the cathedral records have been kept in the past, the idea proved impracticable.

Bishop Beck also founded the offices of sub-dean and sub-chanter, the former being the deputy of the bishop, and the latter, the deputy of the precentor, and it is curious to note that while prior to 1504, the sub-dean was the head of the lower chapter, the sub-chanter at a later period supplanted the sub-dean, on the ground, no doubt, that his principal, the precentor, had become the head of the upper chapter. The sub-dean, was appointed by an act of Bishop Adam Houghton in 1363, to be master of the choristers, and to instruct them in choral music, for which his salary was half a mark. This was probably the commencement of what afterwards developed into the cathedral grammar school; at all events by 1564–5 a school had been established by the chapter, and not only choristers, but vicars choral were by a Chapter Act ordered to attend it. Mr. Morgan was then the schoolmaster, and from that date down till the resignation of Rev. W. G. Spurrell, in 1896, the school was maintained by the chapter.

In the lower chapter there was also a sub-sacrist, who was the deputy of the treasurer, but there is no record of the establishment of this office.

Another official of the cathedral was the communarius, who appears to have been usually one of the vicars choral, his duties being to receive and pay all sums due to or by the upper chapter ; he was probably the deputy of the master-of-the-fabric, an office generally filled by a member of the chapter, annually appointed to superintend the structure of the cathedral.

The early music in the cathedral was probably entirely vocal, but whether at a later period stringed or other instruments were used, as in the case of some other churches, is not known. However, by 1563 there was evidently an organ in the cathedral, as the Chapter Acts record that on 8 Sept., in that year, Thomas Eliot was appointed to teach the choristers, ' playne songe,' and to play the organ ' when tyme requireth.'

The earliest mention of choristers in the cathedral is found in a statute made in 1363, when Bishop Houghton appointed four, and in 1501 two more were added by Bishop Morgan. As an endowment, the former bishop appropriated to them the rectorial tithes of Llanwynen [Llanwnen, co. Card.], and the latter bishop gave them the priory or chapel of Llawhaden, and the church of Kevyn [Llanycefn, Pems]. Other property appears to have been also given to the choristers. Among this is a plain barnlike cottage, (at present being repaired and rebuilt with larger and additional windows) situated between the prebendal house of St. Nicholas, Pen-y-ffoes, and the bishop's palace, which until it was taken over by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, was the property of the choristers, and probably occupies the site of a building for their accommodation. There is also a field (formerly described as a messuage and lands of 3 acres,) on the south-west side of the road at Clegyr Hill, near St. Davids, which is known as 'Choristers Land.' This also no doubt formed part of the endowment of the choristers.

The Chapter Acts prove that the office of chapter clerk existed as far back as 1561, and appointments of a sexton and a verger are recorded in 1571. The earliest notice of a parish clerk is in 1673, but as these records do not go back further than 1560, it is quite possible that all these offices may have been of much more ancient foundation.

The post of dog-whipper would appear to have been of more modern creation, as the earliest mention of this official is in 1731, (St. Davids Parish Registers), but as there is only one entry in the Chapter Acts referring to the dog-whipper, and this is in 1845, and records an alteration in his remuneration, it is possible that being an inferior official the appointments were not entered in the Acts.

For an account of the bells of the cathedral the reader should refer to Hist. St. Dav., pp. 130–131, but it should be pointed out that it was Mr. Richard Probert, not Richard Robert, who was appointed to sell the bells, and that this instruction was issued on 26 July, 1776, and not in 1785, as stated by the authors of that history. Whether those authorities are correct in stating that Mr. Probert's mediation was unavailing is by no means certain, as among the chapter records is a stated account, dated 17 Jan., 1778, for £64 9s. 0½d., in regard to recasting the bells, by William Savill, bell-founder. This account shows that Savill allowed 36cwt. 3qrs. 25lbs. for 3 old bells on 9 June, 1777 (less 16cwt. expended on 2 new bells), at 60s., £62 18s. 3d., and 5 old gudgeons (2qrs. 13lbs. at 50s.), £1 10s. 9½d. The recasting of 2 new bells (16 cwt. at 21s.), £19 4s. New metal added (2 cwt. at 115s.), £11 10s. Total cost of the 2 new bells, including clappers, gudgeons, wheels, and carriage, £49 1s. 10d. A note on the account states that the large bell weighed 13 cwt. 3qrs. 12lbs., and the small bell 4cwt. 16lbs.

In the following list of bishops, the dates of their election have been adopted whenever such dates have been available.

[1] St. David was born in the year 457, thirteen years after the death of Patrick of Menevia, and died in the year 601. Annal. Camb., pp. 3, 6. Authorities, however, differ as to the dates of these events; the authors of Lives of the British Saints express the view that he was born about the year 500, or possibly a few years earlier, and that he probably died in 589. David was the son of Sant, (the son or grandson of Ceredig ap Cunedda Wledig) by Non, the daughter of Cynyr of 'Caer Gawch in Mynwyw.' Documents printed in the Iolo M.S.S. identify Caer Gawch with Pebydiog [Dewisland] in Pembrokeshire, and state that Cynyr gave all his allodial lands, namely Pebidiauck and its appurtenances to Dewi [David] because Dewi was the pope of the district. There is no record of the date when David was canonized, but it is supposed that the canonization took place between the years 1119 and 1124. For further interesting details of Saint David, see Lives of the British Saints, Vol., II., p. 285.

[2] Cynog was bishop of Llanbadarn, Cards., and according to Giraldus Cambrensis succeeded St. David at Menevia; he died at St. Davids, in 606.—Annal. Camb., p. 6.

[3] Teilo was bishop of Llandaff, and according to Giraldus Cambrensis succeeded St. David in the Menevian see, but the authors of Lives of British Saints are of opinion that this statement of Giraldus is not correct, and that it is very doubtful if Teilo survived St. David.

[4] Cenau was the son of Corun ab Ceredig.—Lives of British Saints.

[5] Girald. Camb.

[6] His name is given as Lendivord in Girald. Camb.

[7] 'Sadurnven episcopus Menevensis obiit, A.D., 831.'—Annal. Camb., p.13.

[8] Novis was bishop of St. Davids in 840; he died in 873.—Annal. Camb., pp. 13, 14.

[9] Asser was the author of Asser's Life of Alfred; he was bishop of St. Davids, and was the tutor and friend of King Alfred, and by arrangement, spent six months with the king in Wessex, and six months in Britain [Wales] yearly. King Alfred gave to Asser the rich monasteries of Amesbury in Wilts., and Barnwell in Somersetshire, and also the whole parish of Exeter, with all the diocese that belonged to the king in Wessex and Cornwall. Asser states that he went to Wessex out of the furthest coasts of Western Britain, and that he consented to the arrangement with King Alfred, above referred to, as his friends hoped that if he could secure the favour of the king, they would sustain less harm from King Hemeid, a petty prince of Demetia, who often plundered the monastery and diocese [parochia] of St. Deguus [St. Dewi] and sometimes expelled the prelates, 'as they expelled Archbishop Novis, my relation, and myself.'—Asser's Life of Alfred. Asser died in 908.—Annal Camb., p. 13. Dr. David Powell, however, asserts that the biographer of Alfred, was the chancellor and nephew of Asser, bishop of St. Davids.—Historie of Cambria. George Owen states that Asser was born in St. Davids, and was chancellor there, but tradition says that he was born at Tref Asser in Pencaer, Pems.—Owen's Pem. Pt. I., p. 230.

[10] According to Giraldus Cambrensis, Sampson, at the desire of his people, went to Armorica to escape the yellow jaundice, then raging in Wales, and was appointed bishop of Dole, in Brittany, but the authors of Lives of British Saints bring forward good proof to show that Samson, bishop of St. Davids, was quite a different person to Samson the son of Caw. See Vol. IV., page 138 of that work.

[11] Although Morbiew is not inserted in the list given by Giraldus Cambrensis, his name is given in the list of Hist. St. Dav. There appears no authority for the insertion of Morbiew.

[12] Bishop Lunwerth, was consecrated bishop of St. Davids by Æthelred, archbishop of Canterbury.—Rad. de Diceto Abb. Chron. He died at St. Davids in 944.—Annal. Camb., p. 18.

[13] These bishops are given by Giraldus Cambrensis, but in the list given by Hist. St. Dav. their names are given as Eneuris and Hubert. Archdeacon Yardley identifies Sulhidir, or Hubert, with his predecessor Llunwerth.

[14] Bishop Eneuris died in 946.—Annal. Camb., p. 18.

[15] Bishop Morgeneu was killed by Norsemen [gentiles] in 1000.—Annal. Camb., p. 22. According to Giraldus Cambrensis, Morgeneu was the first bishop of St. Davids to eat flesh.

[16] Ieuan was bishop for one night only.—Girald. Camb.

[17] Bishop Morgeneu died about the year 1025.—Annal. Camb., p. 23.

[18] Erwyn, bishop of St. Davids, died in 1040.—Annal Camb., p. 24.

[20] Bishop Joseph died in 1064.—Annal. Camb., p. 25.

[21] Bleiddud died in 1071.—Annal Camb., p. 26.

[22] Bishop Sulien succeeded to the bishoprick in 1071, and resigned it in 1076, being succeeded by Abraham.—Annal. Camb., p. 27.

[23] In 1078, Bishop Abraham was slain by Norsemen, who devastated St. Davids in that year, when Sulien again accepted the bishoprick.—Annal. Camb., p. 27.

[24] Sulien again resigned the see, and in 1083 was succeeded by his brother [probably an error for 'son'] Rhygyfarch. Sulien died in 1089, in his 75th year.—Annal. Camb., pp. 28, 29. In 1088, the year before Bishop Sulien's death, the shrine of St. David was robbed and despoiled of the gold and silver, with which it was covered.—Ibid., p. 28.

[25] Rhygyfarch was the son of Sulien, bishop of St. Davids, and died in 1099.—Annal. Camb., p. 32. According to the Brut y Twysogion, Rhygyfarch died in 1098.

[26] Bishop Wilfred died in 1115.—Annal. Camb., p. 35. In the Brut y Tywysogion, he is called Grifri, the date of his death being given as 1112. There is no doubt that he was the same person as Wilfred, as both authorities state that he was succeeded by Bishop Bernard.

[27] Bishop Bernard was a Norman; he died in 1150, in the 33rd year of his episcopate.—Annal. Camb., p. 44. He was chancellor of the Queen. During Bernard's episcopate, monks of the Cistercian order were introduced by him and settled at Trefgarn in Dungleddy, Pems.; these monks afterwards removed to Whitland [Alba Landa] in Carmarthenshire.—Annal. Camb., p.43.

[28] Bishop David Fitzgerald died in 1177, and was buried in St. Davids Cathedral.—Annal. Camb., p. 55. He was the son of Gerald de Windsor, castellan of Pembroke, by Nest the daughter of Rhys ap Tudor, prince of South Wales; he was the uncle of Giraldus Cambrensis, and was archdeacon of Cardigan. He was consecrated bishop of St. Davids on 19 Dec., 1147.

[29] Peter de Leia was prior of Wenlock, and was consecrated at Canterbury on 7 Nov., 1176.—Menev Sac. He died in 1198, having been bishop 22 years, 7 months, and 25 days.—Annal. Camb., p. 61. In 1182, the cathedral of St. Davids was in ruins, and was rebuilt anew.—Ibid., p. 55. Peter de Leia would appear to have built an entirely new cathedral at this period, to replace the probably small Celtic church which may have stood on the site prior to the Norman invasion. At all events it is generally agreed by experts, that there are no portions of the existing structure of an earlier date than that of Peter de Leia. On the death of Peter de Leia, Giraldus Cambrensis, who had previously been an unsuccessful candidate for the see on the death of his uncle, Bishop David Fitsgerald, was unanimously elected to the see by the chapter of St. Davids, but his election was quashed through the influence of Hubert, archbishop of Canterbury.

[30] Geoffrey de Henelawe, prior of Llanthony, was consecrated bishop of St. Davids, on 7 Dec., 1203, by Hubert, archbishop of Canterbury.—Annal. Waverley; the date is placed a year later in the Annal. Camb., p. 63. Geoffrey de Henelawe in company with almost all the bishops of England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland, and France, visited Rome in 1214; he died in the same year.—Annal. Camb., pp. 71, 72.

[31] Iorwerth or Gervase, as he was indifferently called, was consecrated bishop of St. Davids in 1214.—Annal. Camb., p. 72. He was abbot of Talley, and founded the precentorship in St. Davids Cathedral, in 1224. He died in 1229, (M.S. in Bibl. Cotton, Vitell. D., 18), but the Annal. Camb. (p. 77.) state that he died in 1226.

[32] Anselm Crassus, or Le Gros, was treasurer of Exeter, and kinsman to William Marshall, earl of Pembroke. He was consecrated bishop of St. Davids, in 1231, at Canterbury.—Menev. Sac. A statute of his is dated in 1239.—Stat. Menev. He died in 1248, in which year a great earthquake occurred, which threw down a great part of St. Davids Cathedral.—Annal. Camb., p. 87.

[33] Assent to the election of Thomas, archdeacon of Lincoln, to the see of St. Davids, was issued on 16 July, 1247.—Pat. Rolls. He died on 11 July, 1255.—Chron. Wykes. He was given the soubriquet of Wallensis, and was the son of William de Carew of Carew Castle, Pems.

[34] Bishop Richard Carew, who was a canon of St. Davids, was the son of Richard Carew, of Carew Castle, and a nephew of Thomas Wallensis.—Old Pembroke Families, p. 14. It is clear, however, that he was an illegitimate son of Richard Carew, as the pope on 10 Mar., 1256, issued a mandate to the chapter of St. Davids, to be obedient to 'Richard, now bishop of St. Davids, late canon of the same, whom, being in minor orders and illegitimate, the pope had consecrated.'—Papal Reg. Richard Carew founded the office of treasurer in St. Davids Cathedral. He died on 1 April, 1280, and was buried in his cathedral.—Menev. Sac.

[35] Thomas Beck, canon of St. Davids, obtained on 17 June, 1280, the royal assent to his election as bishop of St. Davids.—Pat. Rolls. He was the son of Walter de Beck, and brother of Anthony Beck, bishop of Durham, and was treasurer of England.—Menev. Sac. He obtained from Edw. I. a grant of a very large number of advowsons in Cardiganshire, with leave to appropriate the same to the churches of St. Davids and Abergwilly, and he subsequently founded a new college of canons secular at Llanddewi Brefi.—Pat. Rolls., 22 Edw. III. He died on 14 April, 1293.—Browne Willis. He was elected bishop of St. Davids on 3 June.—Menev. Sac.

[36] David Martin was a brother of Nicholas Martin, lord of Kemes.—Owen's Pem., p. 445. He was a canon of St. Davids Cathedral, and his election to the bishoprick received the royal assent on 28 July, 1293.—Pat. Rolls. It would appear from the following extract from the Papal Registers for the year 1296, that the election was at once contested, and an appeal made to the pope:—'The see being void by the death of Thomas, three scrutators, Thomas the precentor, John called Folk, archdeacon, and Peter called Loef, a canon, on counting the votes found 14 out of 20 in favour of David, and 6 for Thomas de Goldburgh, canon; Adam, archdeacon of Brecon, on behalf of the majority, presented the election to the prior and chapter of Canterbury, that see being then void, for confirmation, and was opposed by Peter de Carnoto on behalf of the said Thomas, by whom appeal was made to the pope, in whose presence the matter was discussed; on which David resigned all his right into the hands of the pope, by whom he is now appointed, and ordered to be consecrated by the bishop of Ostia.' It is curious to note that on 20 May, in the same year, the newly elected bishop obtained licence from the pope to contract a loan of 1000 marks to meet his expenses at the papal court.—Papal Reg. David Martin died in Mar., 1328, and was buried in St. Davids Cathedral.—Menev. Sac.

[37] Henry de Gower was a Yorkshire man, and was educated at Merton College, Oxford.—Menev. Sac. The royal assent to his election as bishop of St. Davids, was granted on 1 May, 1328.—Pat. Rolls. On 8 June, 1332, he, with others, was appointed to execute the office of justice of South Wales in the place of Gilbert Talbot, who was detained in the king's company.—Pat. Rolls. He was archdeacon of St. Davids about the year 1323, and was elected to the see of St. Davids on 21 April, 1328; he died on 25 April, 1347 [7 kal. May], and was buried in the south side of the choir of St. Davids Cathedral.—Menev. Sac. Bishop Gower was one of the most munificent benefactors of the church of St. Davids. The alterations effected during his time in the complete decorated style extend nearly throughout the whole building.—Hist. St. Dav. He was the founder of the palace in the close of St. Davids, the magnificent ruins of which give rise at the present day to admiration mingled with regret that its stately remains are steadily decaying by the hand of time. Bishop Gower also founded a hospital at Swansea which he endowed with lands, and it is believed that he must have been a native of that town or its neighbourhood.

[38] John de Thoresby was the son of Hugh Thoresby, by Isabel the daughter of Sir Thomas Grose of Suffolk, knt., and the great grandson of Sir Adam Thoresby of Thoresby in Yorkshire. He was educated at Oxford, and was prebendary of Thorngate in the church of Lincoln.—Menev. Sac. On 23 June, 1347, a faculty was issued by the pope for John Thoresby, bishop elect of St. Davids, to be consecrated by any prelate of his choice (Papal Reg), and the order for the restoration of the temporalities was dated 14 July, 1347.—Pat. Rolls. On 4 Sep., 1349, he was translated to Worcester, and in Oct., 1352, to York; he was appointed Lord Chancellor of England on 16 June, 1349, and died at Bishop's Thorpe, on 6 Nov., 1373, being buried in York Cathedral.—Menev. Sac.

[39] Reginald de Brian was probably a scion of the Brians of Laugharne, whose arms are to be found in St. Davids Cathedral. He was elected bishop by the pope's bull, dated 11 Sep., 1349 (Menev. Sac.), and on 22 Nov., 1349, he was granted by the pope a prorogation of his consecration for two years.—Papal Reg. He was translated to Worcester in 1352, and died of the plague at Alvechirche, on 10 Dec., 1351.—Menev. Sac.

[40] Thomas Fastolfe, archdeacon of Wells, papal chaplain and auditor, was on 22 Oct., 1352, appointed to the see of St. Davids by a papal bull, and on 11 Feb., 1353, the pope issued a mandate to him to betake himself to his diocese as he had been consecrated at the apostolic see by William, bishop of Tusculum.—Papal Reg. A mandate for the delivery of the temporalities of the bishoprick, to him was issued 4 June, 1353.—Pat. Rolls. His will, dated 9 June, 1361, was proved on 1 July, in the same year.—Reg. Islip, fol. 175, in archivis Lambeth. He was consecrated on 15 Mar., 1353, at Canterbury.—Menev. Sac.

[41] A mandate from the King was issued on 8 Sept., 1361, to Adam de Houton, who is described in it as [bishop] 'elect and confirmed of St. Davids.'—Pat. Rolls. Adam Houton, Hoton, or Houghton, was a canon of St. Davids Cathedral, and was Lord Chancellor of England from 1377 to 1378. According to Owen's Pem., he was born at Caerforiog [in the parish of Whitchurch] in Dewisland, Pems., and was descended of worshipful parentage. He succeeded to the see of St. Davids, under a papal bull, dated 22 Oct., 1361; he was the founder of St. Mary's College, adjoining the cathedral of St. Davids.—Stat. Menev. He died on 13 Feb., 1389.—Menev. Sac. His will dated 8 Feb., 1389, was proved on 23 May following.—Reg. Courtney, fol., 231, in archivis Lambeth. Licence to the precentor and chapter, of St. Davids to elect his successor was issued on 27 Feb., 1389 (Pat. Rolls), and according to Le Neve's Fasti, Richard Metford was elected, but his election was set aside by the Pope.

[42] John Gilbert, bishop of Hereford, was appointed to the see of St. Davids, by a bull of the pope, dated 6 May, 1389.—Le Neve's Fasti. On 20 Aug., 1389, he was appointed Lord Treasurer of England.—Pat. Rolls. He died in London, on 28 July, 1397.—Browne Willis. His will, dated 24 Nov., 1393, was proved on 11 Aug., 1397.—Reg. Arundel, Pt. I., fol., 160a., in archivis Lambeth. He was translated from Bangor to the see of St. Davids.—Menev. Sac.

[43] Guy Mone (alias Guy de Mon.) was born in the Isle of Anglesey.—Fuller's Worthies. Described as canon of London, he obtained from the pope on 30 Aug., 1397, a provision of the see of St. Davids, then void by the death of John [Fastolfe], and on 1 Sept., in the same year, received from the pope a faculty for his consecration.—Papal Reg. He was prebendary of Langstowe [Stow Longa] in Lincoln Cathedral. He was appointed Lord Treasurer of England on 25 Oct., 1402; he was consecrated bishop of St. Davids on 11 Nov., 1397, and enthroned on 8 Sept., 1398.—Menev. Sac. He was keeper of the King's privy seal, and died on 31 Aug., 1407.—Browne Willis. His will dated 17 Aug., 1407, is in the archives at Lambeth.—Reg. Arundel, Pt. I., fol., 246b.

[44] Described as elect of St. Davids, Henry Chicheley, on 4 Oct., 1407, was granted by the pope a provision of the see of St. Davids, and a dispensation to retain therewith whatever benefices he then held, until he was more richly provided for by the apostolic see.—Papal Reg. Chicheley was the son of Thomas and Agnes Chicheley; he was born at Higham Ferrers, co. Northampton, and was appointed chancellor of Salisbury on 26 Dec., 1404. He was enthroned bishop of St. Davids on 20 May, 1411; he was translated to the archbishoprick of Canterbury on 4 Mar., 1414; he died on 12 April, 1443.—Menev. Sac. He was the founder of All Souls College, Oxford, to which he gave the churches of St. Clears and Llangennith.—Owen's Pem. I., p. 233. He was the most worthy prelate of his time; he was buried at Canterbury. —Browne Willis He was consecrated bishop of St. Davids on 4 Oct., 1407, in Tuscany.

[45] On 2 June, 1414, the escheator of co. Hereford and the Marches was ordered to restore the temporalities of the see of St. Davids to John [Catterick], late archdeacon of Surrey, and bishop elect of St. Davids, whom the pope had appointed bishop in the place of Henry (Chicheley).—Pat. Rolls. He was a native of Cheshire, and on 1 Feb., 1415, was translated to Lichfield; in 1417, he was at the Council of Constance, and from thence went to St. Florence with the pope, who on 20 Nov., 1410, granted him a bull of translation to Exeter; but he died at Avignon, on 28 Dec., 1419, and was buried in the church of St. Lawrence in Florence; his will was proved on 28 Mar., 1420.— Menev. Sac.

[46] On 1 Feb., 1415, the pope granted to Stephen Patrington, a Carmelite in priest's orders, a provision of the see of St. Davids.—Papal Reg. On 6 April, 1415, he was granted the temporalities of the see.— Pat. Rolls. Stephen Patrington was born at Patrington in Yorkshire; he was a man of great learning, and was made chaplain and confessor to Hen. V; he was sent to the Council of Constance, and returning to England he was appointed bishop of Chichester, but died in Sept., 1417, before his translation was completed, and was buried at White Friars, Fleet St., London; he was consecrated bishop of St. Davids, on 19 June, 1415.—Menev. Sac. His will, dated 16 Nov., 1417, was proved on 29 Dec., in the same year.—Reg. Wittlesey, fol., 310a, in archivis Lambeth. For a list of his literary works see Owen's Pem. I., p. 235.

[47] Benedict Nicolls was bishop of Bangor, and was translated from that see to St. Davids by a bull of the pope, dated 15 Dec., 1417. He was enthroned at St. Davids, on 16 Oct., 1418.—Browne Willis. His will, dated 4 July, 1433, was proved on 14 Aug. following.—Reg. Chicheley, fol., 438, in archivis Lambeth.

[48] Thomas Rodebourne, on 5 Oct., 1433, received a provision of the see of St. Davids from the pope, who on 18 Nov., in the same year issued to him, described as 'elect of St. Davids,' a faculty for his consecration.—Papal Reg. On 16 Dec., 1433, a mandate was issued for the delivery of the temporalities of the see to Thomas Rodebourne, king's clerk, canon of Salisbury and licentiate in theology. —Pat. Rolls. He lived at Rudbourne near Malmesbury, Wilts., on his paternal estate; he was chancellor of the university of Oxford, and warden of Merton College, Oxford; he was elected bishop of St. Davids on 5 Sept., 1433; he died in 1442; administration of his effects was granted at Croydon, on 1 July, 1442, to John Shipton, treasurer of St. Davids, and Elis Holcote.—Menev. Sac.

[49] William Lindwood was born at Lindwood, co. Lincoln; he was dean of the arches, a fellow and benefactor of Pembroke Hall, Cambridge, and held the prebend of Hindeston in Hereford Cathedral; he was elected bishop of St. Davids, and had the temporalities of the see restored to him on 14 Aug., 1442; he died on 21 Oct., 1446, and was buried in the church of Lindwood.—Menev. Sac. His will, dated 22 Nov., 1443, was proved on 26 Nov., 1446.—M.S. Wharton, p. 617, in Biblioth. Lambeth.

[50] John Langton, master of Pembroke Hall, and chancellor of the university of Cambridge, was elected bishop of St. Davids, on 14 April, 1447, and was consecrated by the bishop of Lincoln on 7 May, 1447, and died within 15 days after his consecration.—Menev. Sac.

[51] John Delabere was dean of Wells.—Browne Willis. He was lord almoner of Henry VI., and was buried in the Black Friars Church near Ludgate, London; he was preferred to the see of St. Davids by a papal bull, dated 15 Sept., 1447.—Menev. Sac. Leland says that he never saw St. Davids.

[52] Robert Tully was born at Bristol, and was a monk of St. Peter's Abbey, Gloucester; he was preferred to the see of St. Davids, and obtained licence to be consecrated out of the church of Canterbury, on 28 Aug., 1460; he repaired the stalls in the choir of St. Davids Cathedral; he died in 1480, and, according to Anthony Wood's collection, was buried at Tenby.—Menev. Sac.

[53] Richard Martin was archdeacon of London, in April, 1469; he was chancellor of the marches of Wales, and was provided by the pope to the see of St. Davids, on 26 April, 1482, his consecration taking place on 28 July, 1482; he was one of the privy council of Edw. IV., and was sent by him as ambassador to Spain.—Menev. Sac. He was chancellor of Ireland in 1477.—Pat. Rolls, 17 Edw. IV. He was buried in St. Paul's, London.—Dugdale's Hist. of St. Pauls.

[54] Thomas Langton was born at Appleby in Westmoreland; he was provost of Queen's College, Oxford; he received the royal assent to his election as bishop of St. Davids, on 21 May, 1483, and in 1485 he was translated to the see of Salisbury, and on 22 Jan. he was elected to Canterbury, but he died on 27 Jan., 1502, and was buried at Winchester.—Menev. Sac.

[55] Hugh Pavy received the temporalities of the bishoprick of St Davids on 20 Sept., 1485, void by the translation of Thomas [Langton] to Salisbury.—Pat. Rolls. According to Leland, he was born at Bedminster, co. Somerset. He was an Oxford scholar, and was appointed archdeacon of Wilts. in Feb., 1479; he was consecrated bishop of St. Davids on 9 Oct. 1485. By his will, dated 3 Mar., 1496, and proved in London on 4 Dec., 1498, he bequeathed to St. Davids Cathedral his suit of blue velvet and several copes and antiphons; he also gave to Lantefey [Church], a massbook, painted in colours, and some vestments and small legacies to the churches of Abergwili and Woran [Warren, Pems.].—Menev. Sac. He died prior to 3 Nov., 1496, when the temporalities of the bishoprick of St. Davids, void by his death, were granted to John Morgan [his successor].—Pat. Rolls.

[56] John Morgan, alias Young, was a Welshman.—Ath. Oxon. He was dean of Windsor in 1484, clerk of the hanaper, and archdeacon of Carmarthen; he obtained licence to be consecrated bishop of St. Davids on 12 Nov., 1496; the bishop's throne now in the choir of St. Davids Cathedral was erected by Bishop John Morgan; he died on 1 May, 1504; by his will, dated 25 April, 1504, and proved in London on 29 May following, he desired to be buried in St. Davids Cathedral, and a chapel to be made over his grave.—Menev. Sac.

[57] Robert Sherborne was born in Hampshire; after holding several benefices in England, he was elected dean of St. Pauls in 1499, and in 1504 he was appointed ambassador to Rome; he was elected bishop of St. Davids in 1505, and on 24 April in the same year had licence to be consecrated; he was translated to Chichester on 8 Nov., 1508, where he died on 21 Aug., 1536, and was buried in Chichester Cathedral.—Menev. Sac.

[97] William Basil Tickell Jones was elected bishop of St. Davids on 25 July, 1874, and was enthroned on 15 Sept., 1875.—Chapter Acts. He was the eldest son of William Tilsley Jones of Cheltenham, esq., and matriculated at Trinity College, Oxford, on 16 June, 1840, aged 18; he was D.D. on 27 Oct., 1874, and fellow of University College, Oxford, 1851–7.—Alumn. Oxon. He died at Abergwili Palace on 14 Jan., 1897, and was buried at Llangynfelin Church, Cards. In conjunction with the late Mr. Edward Augustus Freeman, he was the author of the History and Antiquities of St. Davids, the standard work on the cathedral of St. Davids.

[98] John Owen was elected bishop of St. Davids on 20 April, 1897, and was enthroned on 4 June in the same year.—Chapter Acts. He was the eldest son of Griffith Owen of Llanengan, co. Carnarvon, gent., and matriculated at Jesus College, Oxford, on 19 Oct., 1872, aged 18; he was M.A. in 1879, and warden and headmaster of Llandovery College in 1885; he was dean of St. Asaph 1889–92, and principal of St. Davids College, Lampeter.

The Precentorship.

The precentorship was founded by Bishop Iorwerth in 1224, who endowed it with 10 marks yearly out of the prebendal tithes and common fund of the non-resident canons, until the precentor received a better provision, and also with the prebend of Spittal and Landrodeon [Llandridion].

In 1259 Bishop Richard Carew gave the lands of Treueger [Trefgarn] to the precentor in lieu of the above fixed stipend of 10 marks, which had in the interim been increased to 15 marks, and in 1268 Bishop Houghton revoked the gift of Trefgarn and Llandrodion, which had formerly been appropriated to the support of the bishop's table, and in exchange granted a charge of 20 marks yearly, payable out of the revenue of the church of Cilycwm. Canon Payne is of opinion that this revocation did not take effect as the property was in 1810 still in the possession of the precentor. Jones and Freeman, however, assert that Trefgarn was afterwards restored to the precentor, but give no authority for this view.

A further endowment was made by Bishop Benedict Nicholls, who appropriated the advowson of the church of Lampeter, Cards., to the precentorship. The only other endowments of the precentorship were the Chanter's Hill and the Chaunter's Mead, which are situated at St. Davids.

Thomas Lloyd, clericus precentor in ecclesia cathedrali Menevensi et racione ejusdem dignitatis tenet maneria de Llandredean & Tref Garne Owen Cononwer per nomen medietatis unius feodi militaris & valent per annum in omnibus exitibus ultra reprisis cum iij^{s} iiij^{d} communibus annis de perquisitis cur' ibidem iiij^{li} iij^{s} viij^{d}. Item valent prebend' et ecclesia de Llanbeder pont Stevyn appropriat' dicte dignitati; et tenet ecclesiam parrochialem de Spittell similiter appropriat' ex collacione episcopi Menevensis que valet in fructibus et emolumentis singulis annis xvij^{li} viij^{s} In toto per annum £21 15s. De quibus repris': In synodal' et procuracionibus tam in ordinaria visitacione quam in archid' pro dictis ecclesiis 24s. 10d. Et remanet clare £20 6s. 10d. Inde decima £2 0s. 8¼d. —Valor Eccl.

It seems clear that the writer of the Valor Eccl. has made a mistake in identifying Trefgarn Owen as being the manor belonging to the precentor. The property owned by the precentor was undoubtedly the manor of Little Trefgarn in the parish of St. Dogwells, which is situated on the eastern bank of the Cleddau, and comprised, according to a survey made by Thomas Lewis in 1778, a little over 1023 acres.

The earliest lease of the manor or lordship of [Little] Trefgarn on record in the Chapter Books is in 1579, when Thomas Huet, the precentor, granted it and also the stewardship of Trefgarn and Llandrudion to Thomas Edwards of St. Davids [a member of the Sealyham family] for the lives of the grantee and his wife Beatrice Lewis, and their son Nicholas Edwards. This lease was confirmed by the bishop and by Precentor Huet and the chapter on 28 April in that year. About the year 1733 or 1734 the estate of Little Trefgarn was leased for three lives to John Edwardes, Esq., at a rent of £6 6s. 8d., and under subsequent renewals it continued in the tenure of the descendants of the same family until the commencement of the 19th century.—Collect. Menev.

On 1 May, 1849, an Order in Council was issued, approving of the transference of the estate of the precentor to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, by the Very Rev. Dean Llewelyn Llewellin. This order was gazetted on 8 May, 1849.

In the following list of precentors and deans, the latter title having been first assumed by Dean Llewelyn Lewellin, the dates of their installations have been adopted whenever such dates have been available.

[1] He was the first precentor, and was appointed by Bishop Iorwerth, who founded the precentorship in 1224, and endowed that dignity with 10 marks from the prebendal tithes and the common fund of those canons who neglected to keep their residential terms.—Stat. Menev.

[2] W., precentor of St. Davids, was witness to a confirmatory charter, by David de Roche (son of Adam de Roch).—Stat. Menev. His name was William.—Old Pembroke Families, p. 70.

[3] He, described as precentor, was witness to an undated statute of Bishop Anselm.—Stat. Menev.

[4] On 4 Aug., 1255, Master Tankard, archdeacon of Carmarthen, and Richard [Pue], precentor of St. Davids, had licence to elect a bishop in the room of Bishop Thomas [Wallensis].—Pat. Rolls. Described as Richard, precentor of St. Davids, he is mentioned in 1259 and 1263.—Stat. Menev. The surname 'Pue' is given in Menev. Sacra, but on what authority is unknown.

[5] Described as precentor of St. Davids, John de Sweynese was witness to an Act of Bishop Thomas Beck, dated 18 Nov., 1287.—Stat. Menev.

[6] Thomas Barry was witness to a deed in 1300.—Menev. Sac. On the election in 1296 of David Martin to the bishoprick of St. Davids, Thomas, the precentor, was one of the scrutineers.—Papal. Reg.

[7] Richard de Musselwicke occurs as precentor in 1328.—Menev. Sac.

[8] Described as precentor, David Barret was witness to a charter of Bishop Gower, on 17 Feb., 1335.—Stat. Menev.

[9] Described as Adam Hoton, precentor of St. Davids Church, he was witness to a deed in August, 1339.—Stat. Menev. He was bishop of St. Davids in 1361.

[10] Presented by the king on 6 Feb., 1350, by reason of the late voidance of the see.—Pat. Rolls. David de Lee was precentor in May, 1352. In some cases his name is given as David Ley. In an arbitration deed dated 1345 he is described as 'clericus' of St. Davids diocese.—Stat. Menev.

[11] Described as precentor of the cathedral church of St. Davids, John Noke was on 10 Dec., 1401, witness to a grant of two silver chargers, 12 silver dishes, 12 silver cups, and 12 silver saucers, by John David, chancellor of St. Davids, to John Noke, the precentor, for the use of the canons resident.—Stat. Menev. His estate as precentor was ratified on 20 June, 1392.—Pat. Rolls. He was cited to Convocation in 1399.—Epis. Reg.

[12] Thomas Wollaston is mentioned as precentor in an act of Bishop Benedict [Nicholls] dated 16 Oct., 1418. He was collated precentor on 8 Aug., 1413; he was master of St .Mary's College, at St. Davids, and died in 1437.—Menev. Sac.

[13] Hugh ap Owen was probably abbot of St. Dogmaels, who died in 1486; he was collated to the precentorship on 29 Sept., 1437.—Menev. Sac.

[14] Robert Machen, B.D., was collated on this date.—Epis. Reg.

[15] Epis. Reg. John Howell was witness to a statute of Bishop Hugh [Pavy] on 30 July, 1493; also to a statute of Bishop John [Morgan] on 15 April, 1501. On 1 Nov., 1495, Bishop Hugh Pavy and the chapter granted to John Howell, precentor of St. Davids, a garden called Gydonys Place within the close of St. Davids.—Stat. Menev.

[16] Lewis ap Rhys was instituted to the prebend of Clydey, in 1502.—Epis.Reg. He was precentor on 15 Oct., 1509.—Menev. Sac.

[17] Described as precentor, Thomas Lloyd was at Convocation in 1529. He subscribed to the king's supremacy on 18 July, 1534. In March, 1537, he was indicted as an accessory to acts committed by pirates, who had been put in gaol, by Bishop Barlow, and was detained under sureties. In September, 1544, he paid an 'aid' of £100 to Sir John Williams, the treasurer of augmentations.—State Papers. By his will, dated 21 Dec., 1546, and proved on 13 Dec., 1547, he bequeathed a chalice and other plate to the cathedral of St. Davids.—Menev. Sac.

[18] Thomas Young was the son of John Young, of Pembrokeshire. He was afterwards bishop of St. Davids, see p. 276, Note 63. In 1547 he was present, as precentor, at Convocation. After the accession to the throne of Queen Mary, he was in 1554 deprived of his precentorship and fled to Germany, Morgan Phillips being then appointed precentor, but in 1559, Morgan Phillips was in turn deprived of his office, and Thomas Young was restored to the precentorship.—Menev. Sac.

[19] Morgan Phillips was a fellow of Oriel College, Oxford, in 1538–54; he held the living of St. Twinnels.—Alumn, Oxon. He was a Monmouthshire man, and was known as Morgan the Sophister; he was collated precentor on 31 May, 1554, but was deprived of this dignity by Queen Elizabeth in 1559. He died in exile at Douay in Louvain about 1577.—Menev. Sac.

[20] See Note 18.

[21] Thomas Huett was admitted into his residence on 14 Mar., 1560, and was ordered to be installed precentor on 27 April, 1561; he was admitted canon resident on 30 April, 1561.—Chapter Acts. He assisted Bishop Richard Davies in translating the Epistles for the first Welsh New Testament.—Owen's Pem. I., p. 241 . He died on 19 Aug., 1591.—Menev. Sac.

[22] Roger Gifford was present, as precentor, at a chapter meeting, on 25 July, 1592; he was admitted chanter on 27 July, 1591.—Chapter Acts. Roger Gifford was of Christ Church, Oxford, in 1555; he was B.A. on 14 Aug. 1556, fellow of Merton College in 1557, M.A. on 15 Feb., 1560, fellow of All Soul's College in 1563, B.Med. in 1565, president of the College of Physicians, 1581–4, and M.P. for Sarum, 1585–6 and 1588–9; he died on 27 Jan., 1597, and was buried in St. Bride's, Fleet Street.—Alumn. Oxon.

[23] William Hinton was admitted chanter on 7 July, 1597.—Chapter Acts. He was collated precentor on 5 Feb., 1597.—Menev. Sac.

[24] Griffith Higgs was installed on 25 July, 1631, and on the following day was elected canon resident.—Chapter Acts.

[25] William Thomas was installed on 28 Aug., 1660, and admitted canon resident on 29 Sept., 1660.—Chapter Acts. He was afterwards bishop of St. Davids. See p. 278, Note 72. Richard Watson is inserted in Jones and Freeman's list of precentors, as being the successor of William Thomas, on the authority of Le Neve, but there is no mention of this precentor in the records of St. Davids Cathedral, and as William Thomas, described as precentor, granted a lease on 25 July, 1677, and on 29 Oct., 1677, was elected bishop of St. Davids, it seems impossible that Watson could have been precentor.

[26] John Ellis was installed on 17 April, 1678, and was admitted into the corpus of his precentorship on 24 July, 1678.—Chapter Acts. He was collated chancellor of St. Asaph on 9 Mar., 1670; he died on 15 Oct., 1693.—Menev. Sac.

The Chancellorship.

The chancellorship of St. Davids Cathedral, was founded in 1287 by Bishop Thomas Beck, who endowed it with the prebend of Llawhaden; on 7 Aug., 1334, John Gom granted to the precentor, chancellor, and chapter a messuage in the cathedral close, late in the tenure of David Frauncis, 10 bovates of land at Monkton, and 2 acres at St. Kenox in Llawhaden, called 'Le Tokyngmylleham,' upon trust (as to the messuage) for a resident chancellor, subject to the payment by him of a yearly rent of one mark to the chapter; in the event of the chancellor not residing in the house, it was to be at the disposal of the precentor and chapter.—Stat. Menev.

The chancellor under the above grant by Bishop Beck is the rector of Llawhaden.

[1] The dignity of chancellor was founded by Bishop Thomas Beck, on 18 Nov., 1287, The first chancellor appointed appears to have been Thomas de Gurney, who, described as chancellor, was witness to Bishop Beck's charter of the same date, founding the hospital at Llawhaden.—Stat. Menev.

[2] David Francis was chancellor in 1326, and was the compiler of the M.S., known as the Black Book of St. Davids, containing an account of the property of the Bishop. He was archdeacon of St. Davids in Feb., 1333, when he executed a deed conveying a piece of land, with a curtilage, and building to the vicars choral of St. Davids Cathedral to celebrate masses for the souls of Bishop Henry Gower, and of Alexander and Sarah, the father and mother of the grantor.—Stat. Menev.

[3] John Gom was chancellor before 13 Feb., 1335, and is mentioned as previously owning a garden, which was on that date granted to John Faucons, chancellor, by the precentor and chapter. John Gom presumably resigned the chancellorship, as on 7 Aug., 1334, a person of that name granted to the precentor and chapter lands in St. Davids, Llawhaden, and Monkton, to pay five marks yearly to a chaplain, to celebrate mass for the souls of the donor and of Bishop David Martyn, in the church of St. Hugo de Llawhaden, and the grantor is not described as chancellor.—Stat. Menev.

[4] See Note 3. John Faucons was afterwards archdeacon of St. Davids.—Stat. Menev.

[5] David Barret was chancellor in Aug., 1339.—Stat. Menev. He died prior to Sept., 1363. See Note 6.

[6] John David was presented by the King on this date, owing to the voidance of the see.—Pat. Rolls. In Sept., 1363, the pope issued a mandate to the bishop of Hereford, on the petition of John David, chancellor of St. Davids, to enquire into the chancellorship, said to be of the value of 31 marks, 3s. 4d., to which John [Thoresby], archbishop of York, when bishop of St. Davids, attached, on the death of David Baret, the chancellor, who with the chapter has previously consented, the duty of lecturing in theology, no pension having been provided for the same. Bishop Adam [Houghton] was then attempting to make John David lecture, and the pope ordered a fit sum to be assigned to the chancellor, who was not to be compelled to support it out of the rents of the chancellorship, if these were found insufficient.—Papal Reg. On 23 Dec., 1388, John David, described as chancellor of St. Davids Cathedral, was appointed chamberlain and receiver for the king in the counties of Carmarthen and Cardigan. —Pat. Rolls. This chancellor on 13 Dec., 1401, gave to Precentor John Noke, for the use of the canons of St. Davids, a quantity of silver plate. See p. 286, Note 11.

[7] The appointment of John Cole to the chancellorship indicates that high clerical rank was not necessarily regarded as an essential for a holder of that dignity. In January, 1402, he was canon of London and Salisbury, and was also archdeacon of Cardigan, the total value of those offices not exceeding 100 marks. Six years after he was appointed chancellor, he was only a sub-deacon, and in Feb., 1412, he obtained an indult from the pope for seven years, to lease the fruits of his benefices, whilst studying letters at a university or residing at the Roman Court, and not to be bound meanwhile to reside.—Papal Reg. He was collated to the chancellorship on 21 Jan., 1407.—Epis. Reg.

[8] David Pryce was cited to Convocation as chancellor of St. Davids, on 3 May, 1421 ; he occupied the 4th cursal prebend in 1426, and was prebendary of Mathry in 1431.—Menev. Sac.

[9] He was probably the Richard Wogan, rector of Narberth, described as being by both parents of noble birth, who in May, 1424, obtained a dispensation to hold another benefice with Narberth, the value of the latter living not exceeding 50 marks.—Papal. Reg. He was collated to the chancellorship, on 28 Mar., 1426.—Menev. Sac.

[10] John ap Howell was rector of Narberth, and was collated chancellor about the year 1460.—Menev. Sac. He died prior to 29 Dec., 1487.—Epis. Reg.

[11] Lewis Johnes was collated chancellor on 29 Dec., 1487.—Epis. Reg. He had previously been prebendary of Caerfarchell; he died in 1489.—Menev. Sac.

[12] John Denbey was collated chancellor on 25 Jan., 1490.—Epis. Reg. He was afterwards archdeacon of St. Davids.—Menev. Sac. See Church Book of St. Mary, Tenby, p. 11, in regard to his identity with John Smith, vicar of Tenby.

[13] John Talley, chancellor, was witness on 30 July, 1493, to a statute of Bishop Hugh Pavy; he was also witness to a statute of Bishop John Morgan on 15 April, 1501.—Stat. Menev. His will was proved on 15 Dec., 1509; he was rector of Narberth in 1488, of Carew in 1489, and of Lampeter Velfrey in 1496.—Menev. Sac.

[14] William Stradling was rector of Castlebigh; he held the chancellorship in 1511, and subscribed to the king's supremacy on 18 July, 1534; his will, dated 8 June, was proved 31 Oct., 1539.—Menev. Sac.

[15] Edward Popeley's name occurs as chancellor in 1539 and 1541 in the Chapter Books. He was rector of Crickesey, Essex, in 1524.—Menev. Sac

[16] Rowland Meyrick was born in Anglesey; he was prebendary of Treflodyn in 1541 and bishop of Bangor in 1559; he died on 24 Jan., 1566, and his will was proved in London.—Menev. Sac.

[17] David ap Powell was chancellor in Jan., 1563.—Chapter Acts. He held the 5th cursal stall.

[18] John Watkins, chancellor, took the oath to preserve the rights of the cathedral on 29 May, 1570.—Chapter Acts. He was the son of Watkin Howell, and was in 1594 dean of Hereford; he died in 1594.—Menev. Sac. He was a fellow of All Soul's College, Oxford, and M.A., on 14 Dec., 1559; he was canon of Sarum, and rector of Hubberstone in 1569.—Alumn. Oxon.

[19] Richard Edwards was installed chancellor on 14 July, 1571, and admitted canon resident on 26 Sept., 1571.—Chapter Acts. He was collated chancellor, on 12 July, 1571; he was previously subchanter of St. Davids Cathedral.—Menev. Sac.

[20] Roger Rudd was collated chancellor on 30 Oct., 1600; he afterwards held the prebend of St. Nicholas, Penfoes.

[21] He was admitted chancellor on 26 July, 1605, and canon resident on 26 July, 1606.—Chapter Acts. He was collated chancellor on 1 Dec., 1605; he was vicar of Down Hatherley, Gloucestershire, and died on 18 June, 1622.—Menev. Sac. He matriculated at Queen's College, Oxford, under date of 22 Dec., 1576, aged 17, and was M.A. on 26 May, 1584; he was prebendary of Gloucester.—Alumn. Oxon. Jones and Freeman, on the authority of Le Neve, mention William Aubrey as the successor of Henry Aisgill, but as the latter died in 1622, and Richard Bayly was installed in the chancellorship in the same year, Aubrey could not have been chancellor.

[22] Richard Bayly was installed on 27 July, 1622.—Chapter Acts. He was collated chancellor on 4 July, 1622, and was afterwards dean of Salisbury.—Menev. Sac. He was a Warwickshire man, and matriculated at St. John's College, Oxford, on 3 July, 1601, aged 15; he was D.D. on 16 July, 1633; he was chaplain to Charles I., canon of St. Paul's, and was archdeacon of Nottingham; he was sequestered from his rectory of Bradfield, Berks, in 1646; he died on 27 July, 1667.—Alumn. Oxon.

[23] Rees Prichard was collated chancellor on 14 Sept., 1626; he was born at Llandovery; he was the well-known vicar Prichard, the author of Canwyll y Cymry and other works. He was born in 1579, and graduated B.A. from Jesus College, Oxford, in June, 1602, and took his M.A. in 1626. He was vicar of Llandingad, with the chapelry of Llanfair-ar-y-bryn, both in the town of Llandovery, Carms.; he died in 1644.—Menev. Sac. He was at Jesus College, Oxford, in 1597, aged 18; he was canon of Brecon in 1614.—Alumn. Oxon. He was installed chancellor in Oct., 1626, and was admitted canon resident of St. Davids on 26 July, 1627.—Chapter Acts.

[24] Evan Owen was collated chancellor on 5 Dec., 1644, and installed on 8 May, 1645; he was the son of George Owen, lord of Kemes; he was rector of Llanychllwyddog in 1626, and rector of Walwyn's Castle and of Narberth; he died on 30 Dec., 1662, aged 61, and was buried at Llawhaden.—Menev. Sac.

[25] Richard Lucy was installed on 22 Feb., 1663, and was admitted canon resident on 24 July, 1663; he was the son of Bishop William Lucy, and was collated chancellor on 13 Feb., 1663; he died on 12 Sept., 1690, aged 55; he was rector of St. Florence.—Menev. Sac. He matriculated at Jesus College, Oxford, on 12 May, 1651, and was M.A. from St. Alban's Hall, on 7 Feb., 1663; he was prebendary of Brecon, rector of St. Florence in 1613, and vicar of Llangammarch.—Alumn. Oxon.

[26] William Needham was collated chancellor on 29 Nov., 1690; he was a fellow of Emmanuel College, Cambridge; he was rector of Alresford, Herts., where he died on 22 June, 1727.—Menev. Sac. He was admitted canon resident of St. Davids on 20 July, 1691.—Chapter Acts.

Oxon.*

The Treasurership.

The office of treasurer was originally founded by Bishop Thomas Wallensis in 1253, one of the canons being deputed to fill it, apparently without any additional emolument, but in 1259 Bishop Richard Carew endowed the dignity with the portion of the issues from the altar, etc., to which the bishop was entitled as canon of the cathedral.

On 16 May, 1287, Bishop Thomas Beck appropriated to the chancellorship the church of Llanbadarn in Maelienydd, co. Radnor (Stat. Menev.), but this endowment was lost before the Reformation. The treasurer received at that time the tithes of Llangranog and Llandissiliogogo, Cards.—Hist. St. Dav., p. 322.

Johannes Lowys clericus thesaurarius ecclesie cathedralis antedicte sic ea racione prebendarius prebende de Llandissilio & Gogof ex collacione episcopi Menevensis valet in omnibus emolumentis per annum £26. On 22 July, 1847, an Order in Council was issued, approving of an agreement by Rev. Charles Phillips, treasurer of St. Davids Cathedral, to substitute a money payment to the treasurer in lieu of the property belonging to that dignity, which consisted chiefly of tithe rent charge in the parishes of Llandissiliogogo and Llangranog and the hamlet of Blainhownant in the parish of Penbryn, Cards., any right of patronage being reserved to the treasurer. This order was gazetted on 10 Aug., 1847.

[1] Peter de St. Davids was the canon deputed to act as treasur by Bishop Thomas Wallensis.—Stat. Menev.

[2] Described as Philip, treasurer of St. Davids, he was appointed in 1259 as one of the proctors to collect benefactions for the fabric of the cathedral.—Stat. Menev.

[3] Adam Barret resigned the treasurership in 1277 when he was appointed archdeacon of Brecon, and was succeeded in the treasurership by Robert de Haverford, rector of Llanfynydd, who was installed treasurer in Sept., 1277.—Annal. Camb., p. 105.

[4] See Note 3. Robert de Haverford was archdeacon of St. Davids in 1287.

[5] William de Burreche was a canon of St. Davids, and succeeded Robert de Haverford, treasurer, on the appointment of the latter to the archdeaconry of St. Davids; William de Burreche died on 29 Mar., 1282.—Annal. Camb.

[6] John de Barry succeeded William de Burreche in 1282.—Annal. Camb. p. 107.

[7] Described as 'Master William the treasurer,' William de Barry was witness to a charter of Bishop Thomas Beck, on 18 Nov., 1287.—Stat. Menev.

[8] David Barret, treasurer of St. Davids, bound himself on 1 Mar., 1333, to pay 10 marks yearly out of the revenues of his office for the support of two chaplains to celebrate mass in the cathedral for the souls of Sir Richard Symon and his wife Eleanor. David Barret was afterwards chancellor of St. Davids.

[9] John de Crughowel, treasurer, was witness on 17 Feb., 1335, to a grant by Bishop Henry Gower and the chapter to the vicars choral.—Stat. Menev.

[10] Philip de Crughowel was witness to a statute of Bishop Henry Gower in Aug., 1339.—Stat. Menev. He was probably the vicar of Amroth in 1332.

[11] Walter de Trefdyn [Trevine], treasurer, was witness to a statute of Bishop Henry Gower in June, 1342. He was also witness to a statute of Bishop Reginald Brian, on 18 May, 1352.—Stat. Menev.

[12] Robert Rees was presented by the king on this date owing to the voidance of the see. He was at the time chaplain of the church of 'St. Michael, Kylien,' [probably St. Michael, Clyro] in the same diocese, which he resigned on 7th Aug., 1361.—Pat. Rolls.

[13] William Worth exchanged the treasurership for the rectory of Bokingfield and New Lid in the diocese of Canterbury, with David Vachan, on 29 Jan., 1365.—Le Neve's Fasti.

[14] See Note 13.

[15] Lewis, treasurer of St. Davids, is mentioned in a statute of Bishop John Gilbert, dated 24 April, 1392.—Stat. Menev. Archdeacon Yardley gives his name as Lewis Aber, and in this is followed by Jones and Freeman, but neither give the authority for this surname.

[16] Roger Basset was appointed treasurer on 7 Dec., 1398; he was granted licence for non-residence on 26 Nov., 1399, to go to the papal court on the affairs of the cathedral. In his will, dated 16 Sept., and proved 26 Sept., 1416, in London, he describes himself as treasurer of St. Davids, prebendary of Salisbury, and rector of Terring.—Menev. Sac.

[17] Roger Bottall was archdeacon of Cardigan in 1407, and was admitted to the treasurership prior to 1421.—Menev. Sac.

[18] John Shipton held the 1st cursal prebend and exchanged that stall with Roger Bottall for the treasurership. Administration of the goods of Bishop Rodeborne was on 1 July, 1442, granted to John Shipton, treasurer of St. Davids, and to Master Elis Holcote; he was admitted treasurer on 4 Mar., 1438.—Menev. Sac.

[19] Owen Pole was treasurer in July, 1493, and was witness to a statute of Bishop Hugh Pavy on 30 July, 1493.—Stat. Menev. His will dated 10 Dec., 1509, was proved on 8 Mar., 1510. He built the treasurer's house at St. Davids, as may still (circa 1749) be seen by the initials of his name 'O. P.' still remaining in the glazing of several windows there.—Menev. Sac.

[20] John Griffith describes himself as treasurer of St. Davids, in his will dated 3 April, 1522, and proved on 2 May, 1523; he held the prebend of Treflodan in 1504.—Menev. Sac.

[21] John Lewis subscribed as treasurer to the abjuration of papal authority in 1534.—State Papers. In the year 1537 relations between Bishop Barlow and Richard Devereux, the deputy justice of South Wales, were much strained. The precentor of St. Davids, who had been arrested by the bishop on a charge of being an accessory of certain pirates (See p. 287, Note 18.), belonged to the Devereux faction. Referring to this, the bishop, in a letter dated 5 April, to Cromwell, says: The writer's brother can show your lordship the circumstances of the chanter's far abused demeanour and intolerable fashion. Justice is perverted by valiant bearers, of who the chief are two of the richest canons, sworn chaplains of the Lord Ferrers, Mr. Griffith ap Owen and Mr. John Lewis, treasurer of St. Davids, who since the matter have absented themselves contrary to the King's acts, idly sojourning in Carmerdyne and determined without cause to be plaintiffs against the writer.—State Papers. John Lewis died in 1541, and his will was proved on 2 Nov., 1541. He bequeathed £6 6s. 8d. to the reparation of St. Davids Cathedral.—Menev. Sac.

[22] Described as Hugh ap Rice, treasurer of St. Davids Cathedral, a septuagenarian, he was granted on 26 Mar., 1561, a dispensation by Mathias, archbishop of Canterbury, to hold also for his life, a prebend in Rochester Cathedral.—Chapter Acts. He was born at Brecknock, and was a generous benefactor to Jesus College, Oxford. His will dated 8 Aug., 1574, was proved in London on 31 Aug., 1574.—Menev. Sac. He was canon of Rochester in 1541, and was founder of Jesus College, Oxford.—Alumn. Oxon.

[23] Thomas Lloyd was installed on 20 Dec., 1574.—Chapter Acts. He died on 8 Mar., 1613, and was buried in St. Davids Cathedral. He was of Cardigan, and was at Oxford in or before 1564, aged 20; he was M.A. on 7 June, 1575, canon of Hereford in 1572, rector of Llangunllo, Cards., in 1577, precentor of Brecon in 1583 and rector of Nolton; he was the son of Hugh Llewellin Lloyd of Llanllyr, Cards.—Alumn. Oxon.

Sac.* He was a Gloucestershire man, and matriculated at Magdalen Hall, Oxford, on 7 July, 1578, aged 14; he was vicar of Nevern in 1600, and prebendary of Llangan in St. Davids Cathedral in 1606.—Alumn. Oxon. He was the son of John Angel and Anne, daughter of William Howell, and the grandson of Thomas Angel, gent.—Lewis Dwnn, Vol. I, p. 193.

[25] John Johnson was installed treasurer, on 14 Dec., 1613, and was admitted canon resident on 27 July, 1614.—Chapter Acts. He resigned the treasurership in May, 1616.—Menev. Sac.

[26] On 24 July, 1633, William Slatyer, treasurer, was appointed one of the proctors of the chapter.—Chapter Acts. He was collated to the office of treasurer on 15 May, 1616; he was born in Somersetshire, and died on 14 Feb., 1647, aged 59. He was buried at Otterden near Maidstone in Kent.—Menev. Sac. He was the son of William Slatyer of Somerset, gent., and matriculated at St. Mary's Hall, Oxford, on 6 Feb., 1601, aged 13; he was D.D. on 17 Dec., 1623, rector of Romany New Church in 1617, and of Otterden, Kent.—Alumn. Oxon.

[27] William Slatyer, junior, was collated and installed treasurer on 24 July, 1647, but was apparently afterwards ejected by William Owen, who on the suggestion that the office was vacant, obtained letters patent under the great seal, granting the treasurership to him.— Chapter Acts.

[28] William Owen, afterwards archdeacon of Cardigan, was on 29 Sept., 1660, installed treasurer and admitted canon resident.—Chapter Acts. He was son of John Owen of Kemes, Pems., gent., and matriculated at St. John's College, Oxford, on 22 Feb., 1628, aged 18; he was D.D. on 7 Aug., 1660; he was rector of Dinas.—Alumn. Oxon. He was afterwards rector of Llangoedmore, Cards.

[29] See Note 27. William Slatyer on 3 July, 1661, obtained a mandate from the king, ordering the bishop and chapter to restore the treasurership to him. He was admitted canon resident on 24 July, 1663. —Chapter Acts. He was the son of William Slatyer, the treasurer, in 1616; he was rector of Otterden in 1663, and died there in 1668, of small pox.—Menev. Sac.

[30] Spencer Lucy was the son of Bishop William Lucy; he was vicar of Kerry, Montg., and held the prebend of Llandilo ar Graban in Brecon College; he was collated treasurer of St. Davids Cathedral on 14 Jan., 1669; he died in Jan., 1692, and was buried in the collegiate church of Brecon.—Menev. Sac. He matriculated at Queen's College, Oxford, on 2 Aug., 1661, aged 17, and was M.A. in 1665; his will was proved at Oxford on 14 July, 1691.—Alumn. Oxon. He was admitted canon resident on 24 July, 1669.—Chapter Acts.

[31] Edmund Meyrick, prebendary of Llangan, in 1660, was treasurer in 1691, and was admitted canon resident on 20 July in that year.— Chapter Acts. He was the youngest son of Edmund Meyrick of Ucheldre, Merioneth; he was rector of Burton, Pems., in 1670, and died on 24 April, 1713, and was buried in St. Peter's Church, Carmarthen.— —Menev. Sac. He matriculated at Jesus College, Oxford, on 23 July, 1656, and was M.A. in 1662; he was vicar of Eynsham, Oxford, in 1663, of Llanarthney in 1666, rector of Penboyr in 1668, and of Burton, precentor in 1685, rector of Stackpole Elider and vicar of Llangwad in 1677.—*Alumn.
